COME AND SEE US.

Headquarters Rep. State Central Com., Milwaukee, June 15, 1884.

The Republican State Central Committee has opened convenient and commodious headquarters on Wisconsin street, near the postoffice, in Milwaukee. All republicans, and especially those of our own state, are cordially invited to call when in the city. All republican papers published in the state, and many of the leading journals of the country, will be kept on file. Come and see us. H. A. Taylor, Chm., C. Payne, Sec.

The republicans of the "wild west" seem to be a standing terror to the dyspeptic better element of New England.

Mr. Tilden has sent Mr. Cleveland no congratulatory telegram. Neither has he made any signs of tapping his barrel.

Mr. Beecher has already repudiated an interric[illegible] which he is made to say some u[illegible]s of Mr. Blaine. We magnet re[illegible] shortly, to hear of Mr. [illegible]pudiating his bolt.

[illegible] the night of the 4th of next November, the democrats will begin to feel as if the wind was blowing six hundred miles an hour. A big storm, of course, but quite refreshing to the Blaine men.

Mrs. Langtry has made $300,000 since she has been on the stage, and like the average women of fashion—stage women women—she spent $150,000 in jewelry During the past season the Lily made $82,000.

Every republican will applaud the enterprise of ex-President Hayes in raising poultry. He proposes to supply the republicans of Ohio with able-bodied crowing roosters for the 5th of next November.

There should be a company of riff-raffs formed in Janesville. There are several hundred very respectable business men and honored citizens who are republicans, who would like to join the Blaine riff-raff company.

If the democrats lost Indiana in 1880 by 7,000 when they had seven mules in the canvass, how many mules will it take to carry the state for Cleveland in 1884? This is a question which the democratic committee will not be able to clearly decide in 30 hours.

In 1883 Great Britain had 550 war vessels, France 356, the United States 139 and Germany not quite 100. Great Britain had 4980 naval officers, France 6649 the United States 2033 and Germany 682. The British navy costs $51,800,000 a year, the French $41,000,000, the American $16,100,000 and the German $11,164,000

Very excellent authority says that there will be a democratic Blaine and Logan club in every ward in Rochester, New York, and that within a few weeks the revolt against Cleveland's nomination in Western New York has assumed tremendous proportions. Where Cleveland is best known, there will be the greatest opposition against him.

In the matter of campaign songs the Blaine and Logan composers are away ahead of their opponents. Copyrights on 125 Blaine songs have already been issued, and but sixty for Cleveland and Hendricks. The cause of this difference is that political funeral songs never sell as well as a good, live, cheering song which has the ring of victory about it.

The bolter will yet live to see the time when they will bolt their own bolt. Bolting with the Curtis crowd is chronic, and if they had lived eighteen hundred and fifty-two years ago, they would have bolted the immortal sermon on the Mount, and in the hour when the Son of Man was betrayed they would have been found on the side of Judas.

The queerest product of the season are the democratic Blaine clubs. There are hundreds of them throughout the country, and their name is significant. They are not republicans in the strict sense of the word, but are opposed to Cleveland and enthusiastic for Blaine. They cherish the interests of the United States more than those of any foreign country, and therefore will vote the republican ticket.

The managers of the democratic campaign have their attention called to the fact that Mr. W. J. Gleason, chairman of the democratic city central committee, of Cleveland, Ohio, who recently declared for Blaine, has received a letter from a democrat in Dover, N. J., containing the information that all the Irish employes and they are all Irish, in the Dover Iron works, the silk mill, Borche's boiler works, and the Morris iron works had announced themselves for Blaine.

The one hope of the democratic party in this country, is the Irish vote within a radius of 100 miles of the city hall in New York. Now, there is something remarkably strange about that vote. Without it, it is impossible for the democrats to succeed at all, and with it solid, Blaine can still be elected. Every day comes fresh proof that the Irish vote is breaking up under the invigorating influence of the American policy represented by Mr. Blaine and advocated by the republican party. The report comes that in the mining region of western Connecticut, in the mining region of northern New Jersey, and on Manhattan Island itself, there are abundant proofs, plain to every observer, and nowhere plainer than in democratic papers, that this Irish vote, indispensable to democratic success, is breaking away from the democracy.

Professor Douglass, of the Michigan university, produces amateur cyclones at will. He does it by suspending a large copper plate by silken cords. This plate is charged heavily with electricity, which hangs down like a bag underneath, and is rendered visible by the use of arsenious gas, which gives it a green color The formation is a miniature cyclone as perfect as any started in the clouds. I is funnel-shaped, and whirls around rapidly. Pass this plate over a table, the cyclone snatches up copper cents, pens, pith balls and other objects and scatters them on all sides.

There is a good deal more than we at first suspected, to the report that Colonel Vilas was to be nominated for governor. The programme now arranged in the heads of the democrats is as good as anything which is premature can be. Vilas is to be nominated, and "if" elected he is to sent to the senate, "if" the legislature be democratic. Bragg is to be returned to congress, and Delaney, who helped to defeat him two years ago, is to be made lieutenant governor, and will become governor provided the programme doesn't miscarry. The experience of the Wisconsin democracy in having slips between the cup and the lip will be repeated this campaign.

It is perplexing to attempt an explanation why the occasion of the ratification of Cleveland by the national democratic committee, should have been surrounded with a funeral-like solemnity. Of course, the committee could not show much cheer and hope on such an occasion, for every time in the past twenty-four years, such a mission has seemed like a "fool's errand." But there was a peculiar sadness about this. It was raining. The thought crowded the mind that Cleveland's nomination was forced, and that he was a sham reformer. Hollow mockery seemed to surround the whole business. Colonel Vilas fell into a mood of sadness when he delivered the address; and the reply of the governor was fully in keeping with the mournful sentiment of the time and place. It is pretty early in the campaign for the democrats to begin to mourn.

The president of the Buffalo Courier printing company has issued a card in which he denies that there has ever been any scandal connected with the private life of Grover Cleveland. There is one or two points in the brief card which the Gazette gives its readers, and are as follows:

The "Rev." Ball was an ardent supporter of Cleveland during the gubernatorial campaign, and was paid for his work. We understand, however, that he was disappointed about some position, hence the "flop" and dirty work unbecoming any man, whether he wears the cloth or not. "Rev." Ball's article has no weight in this place, where he is known. The story as published is false, absolutely so, and will be met in due time. Cleveland will carry Buffalo by 5,000 or 8,000 majority, and New York state by at least 25,000, and in all probability considerable more. He is a man whose social and public life has never been marred to prevent his associating with and having the confidence of the best people in Buffalo.

The democratic and independent papers which were the first to charge Cleveland with a libertine, should hasten to publish Mr. McCune's card. There may be no weight in it, but that matters nothing to them, and Mr. Cleveland should have the benefit of the doubt in the premises.

The strangest story connected with this campaign is that of the Irish votes flocking by the thousands into the republican camp. Such a thing was never before known in this country. In years gone by, an Irishman no sooner landed in Castle Garden, than he became a democrat. The explanation of this was not easy. The Germans are largely republican. The Scandinavians were naturally inclined to take the republican side of politics. The English, until quite recently, usually expressed sympathy for the republican party. But the Irish, as a rule, were born democrats, and that is why New York city has been called the hot bed of democracy, the democratic majority in that city ranging all the way from 40,000 to 80,000.

It is very surprising that an Irishman, or any other foreigner, should be a democrat. It is the last political organization on earth a workingman should have any sympathy for. The Irish have a history. It is something like the history of the American colonies. It is full of sorrow, disappointment and cruelty; and one would naturally suppose that when one of this class comes to the United States to make his home here and seek his fortune, he would identify himself with that party which gives him the greatest protection; which seeks to give him the most prosperous home; which protects his business and and build up his wages; and which is the party of intelligence and progress The Irish have not done that until lately.

There is now a new order of things. The Irish have had their eyes opened. They have discovered, as other foreigners have, that in the republican party is the only political safety. They see that the republican party is the only party that protects their homes by protecting their wages and elevating the American laborer. The democratic party has persistently refused to do this. It has been the unfailing enemy of the workingman by its constant free trade tendencies.

This accounts for the revolution in New York and elsewhere among the Irish voters. They want an aggressive and a progressive party and have concluded to try Blaine and the republican party. It will make New York sure to the republicans.

TO THE BRAVE DEAD.

Dedication of the Dayton, Ohio, Soldiers' Monument.

Great Gathering of People—Thousands of Veterans in Line—Programme of Exercises—Description of the Memorial.

Dayton, Ohio, Aug. 1.—Fully 20,000 visitors swelled the crowd which celebrated the most important day (Thursday) of the soldiers' reunion. The procession in the morning was an immense affair, and the scarred veterans, with their tattered battle-flags, were cheered at every step of their route.

The order of the day was carried out as follows. Artillery salute at sunrise—thirteen guns. Reveille—bugle and drum corps.

Grand parade at 10 o'clock a. m.; the crowning feature of the occasion. The veterans of the late war, each regimental organization, with its old battle flags, preceded by the attending posts of the Grand Army of the Republic and military companies, and followed by a troop of cavalry. The procession formed during the early morning, and proceeded through the principal streets of the city, the whole asserted to be the grandest and most imposing procession of the survivors of the war since the grand review at Washington, and passed in review before the governor of the state and staff and other distinguished soldiers and statesmen.

Dedication of the soldiers' monument at 2:30 o'clock; master of ceremonies, Hon. Samuel Craighead; transfer of the monument in behalf of the county commissioners, Hon. George W. Houk; acceptance in behalf of citizens and unveiling the monument, Governor George Hoadly.

Governor Hoadly concluded his address as follows:

"To this cause, then—the cause of union, liberty, equality—and to these heroes, living and dead—they who battled and they who fell—and to the victory which they achieved—a victory equally beneficent to the conquered and conqueror: the victory of love, not of hate; of brother, not of executioner; a victory unstained by the shedding of blood after war, and followed by reconciliation, not alienation this monument is dedicated. It is accepted and will be preserved as a memorial and a pledge that the sacrifice shall never be forgotten; that the principles of law and rudiments of government procured at its expense shall be forever maintained, and that if in the future occasion calls, the sons of Montgomery county, of Ohio, and of the Union will be not less prompt to renew the offering and zealous to sustain the cause than they whose death we mourn, and whose glory we celebrate here."

At the close of the governor's remarks he pulled the rope to disengage the veil, but it refused to part from the statue. A steeple-climber named Ward climed up to the top of the monument by the aid of two ropes, and tore the covering away. Gen. Hawley, the orator of the day, was in the midst of his speech at the time, but the loud cheers and cannon's roar interrupted him. It was a long time before order was sufficiently restored for him to continue. Quite a large number of prominent persons were upon the stand, which was just east of the monument. Among them were Senator Sherman, ex-president Hayes and wife, Justice Stanley Matthews, Gen. Rosecrans, Gen. Hawley, Governor Hoadly, wife, and staff. Gen. Patrick, Gen. Gates P. Thurston, and others.

THE MONUMENT

is a highly creditable work of art. It is of gray Maine marble, cylindrical in form, eighty feet high and surmounted by the figure of a private soldier at parade rest. The stones for the die weigh twenty tons each. These are appropriately inscribed as follows, on the south face: "The Memorial of Montgomery County to Her Soldiers;" on the east, "The Republic rests upon the virtue, intelligence and patriotism of its citizens; on the north, "The Federal Union must and shall be preserved," and on the west, "Liberty and Union, now and forever, one and inseparable."

Then followed music—"Peace to Their Ashes, Their Graves Are Our Pride"—select voices and choruses, words composed by Mrs. John Hancock, music by Professor Blumenschein, written and composed for this occasion. Invocation was given by Rev. William Earnshaw, after which a memorial to the Montgomery county soldiers was given by Col. E. N. Parrott.

Music, the "Battle Hymn of the Republic" by a male chorus and band, was next on the programme, and then the oration of the day, by Maj. Gen. Joseph R. Hawley, followed. Gen. Hawley delivered an eloquent oration. He first paid a glowing tribute to the heroic dead who many years ago passed into the presence of a Father of infinite justice and love. The chief purpose of the monument is, however, he said, for the living and those who are to follow, and not for the dead. He next paid a tribute to Ohio and her eminent men, some of whom were present on the stand. He referred at length to the war of the rebellion; the causes which led to it, and the results attained. "The world doubted whether we were capable of prolonging our national life, but by our late war they have learned that we are a loyal people and that a whole nation can be in arms in almost a day. He spoke of questions settled by the war; their wholesome influence upon all, and said that now even the south would not have them changed. He eloquently described scenes during the war, and spoke of the differences between our rebellion and the usual wars of history. Our war was, he said, of incalculable value, for lessons of regularity, fidelity, courage, and absolute obedience to orders; myriads were made better and but few worse, and our faith in humanity was increased. He closed with repeating Lincoln's famous speech at Gettysburg.

At the conclusion of Gen. Hawley's address, ex-President Hayes, Senator Sherman and Gen. Rosecranz were loudly called for, and responded with brief speeches. A perfect ovation was tendered Mrs. Hayes after the speaking, and the vast crowed compelled her to appear at the speakers' stand, amid the wildest applause.

The programme closed with music, "America," chorus, audience and band. The vocal music was under the direction of Professor W. L. Blumenschein.

At night there was a grand and brilliant display of fireworks under the management of a Brooklyn firm. The aim was to make this the most magnificent display of fireworks ever attempted in a western city, consisting largely of special military pieces prepared for the occasion.

THE CATTLE PLAGUE.

Situation in Nebraska—Eradicated at Chicago.

Lincoln, Neb., Aug. 1.—When Governor Dawes was notified of the existence of Texas fever among cattle he sent his private secretary and a veterinary surgeon to the infected places on the Union Pacific to make an investigation. The disease manifests itself at Brady and Maxwell stations. The disease was first communicated from Texas cattle shipped in last May, and has been pronounced by Dr. Wilcox, of Wyoming, to be the genuine Texas fever. About 100 head have died. Much anxiety was felt among cattlemen until they became aware that the disease was not contagious. The cattle shipped in drop the poison and recover, while natives feeding over the same place contract the disease and die, leaving no poison. Cattlemen and surgeons agree that cattle across the country leave all taint before reaching this latitude; hence the railroads will be asked to refuse shipping Texas cattle into Nebraska territory. The grangers feel better, and are satisfied that the danger is from stock shipped, and that where the stock are driven overland they become acclimatized and free from disease. The governor has no special authority to take any steps in the matter, but is determined to lend the aid of the state in every possible way to stay the disease. He is convinced that there is no special occasion for alarm.

The state veterinarian of Kansas concludes in a full report on the cases in that state that the disease is Texas fever without doubt.

Chicago, Aug. 1.—George T. Williams, secretary of the Chicago stock yards, reports that the Texas fever has been entirely eradicated by the butchery of the infected herd, and that no further trouble with cattle is expected.

FARMING IN NEW ENGLAND.

Some Facts Brought Out by an Enterprising Journal.

Springfield, Mass., Aug. 1.—In March, 1883, The New England Homestead, an agricultural journal, printed a simple plan for keeping farm accounts, and offered prizes for the best years' accounts. Ninety contestants began keeping accounts April 1, 1883. Forty-two accounts for the year ended April 1, 1884, were submitted to the committee of award, composed of the secretaries of the boards of agriculture of the New England states, ex-President Stockbridge, of the Massachusetts Agricultural college, and the editor of The Homestead.

The first prize, an $80 mowing machine, was awarded to H. C. Russell, of North Hadley, whose farm paid 19.02 per cent profit on the capital invested, after paying for all labor and other expenses, including wages to the proprietor. Other prizes were awarded. Out of the forty-two accounts returned thirty-six show profits on the capital invested, above all expenses (including labor), of from ½ per cent to over 40 per cent. The average of the thirty-six different farm accounts that show a gain indicates a profit of 10 per cent. on a total capital of $160,000. Six accounts show a loss of from ½ per cent. to 12 per cent; the average of the six accounts is 6 per cent. loss, on a total capital of $22,500. The average for the whole forty-two accounts is a net profit of 8 per cent. on an interest capital of $182,500. The losses in six accounts were ascribed almost wholly to the unprecedented drought of last year, following upon the similar disaster of the previous year. This is the first record ever made or published giving facts and figures of the business of New England farming.

TO WELCOME GREELY HOME.

Sam Randall Will Try To Be There—Review of the Fleet.

Portsmouth, N. H., Aug. 1.—Secretary Chandler has arrived and is in receipt of a letter from Hon. Samuel J. Randall in which that gentleman says he will try to be in "Portsmouth on Monday Aug. 4. I cannot reach there by Aug. 2. If anything prevents I will telegraph you. I shall have to disengage myself from some appointment already made. It will give me the greatest gratification to welcome the survivors and mourn the loss of the dead of the Greely expedition." Lieut. Greely's mother's will be present and Commander Schley's wife has arrived.

The grand review of the naval squadron at anchor in the harbor took place in the afternoon in the presence of an immense concourse of people who lined the New Hampshire and Maine shores. The river was filled with pleasure-boats.

Soldiers' Reunion at Chicago.

Chicago, Aug. 1.—At a meeting of the committee on arrangements, it has been arranged that the contemplated reunion of the soldiers of the northwest would be held at the Driving park, Chicago, Aug. 26 to 29, inclusive. As many as 7,000 ex-soldiers can be accommodated with shelter on the grounds, and meals can be procured from 25 cents upward. Railroad fare for soldiers has been fixed at one cent a mile each way, and to the general public one and one-third fares for the round trip. Soldiers with badges will be admitted to the grounds free with their families. There will be a grand street parade of all ex-soldiers and sailors the first day. A prize of $300 is offered to the best drilled company of the National Guard, and to the second, $75; to the best drilled company of veterans, $200; second. $75; to the best drilled civic society, $150; second, $75; best band, $150; best drum corps, $75. There will be horse-racing, bicycle-riding, and other sports each day of the reunion, The celebration will be concluded by a grand sham battle.

Furious Storm in Baltimore.

Baltimore, Aug. 1.—A furious rain and wind storm broke over this city at 5:30 Thursday evening, and for nearly an hour the rain fell in torrents, turning the streets into miniature rivers. Huge trees that had withstood the shocks of many storms, were uprooted, while the limbs and branches of others were twisted off and blockaded the streets. On Johnson street the roof of a house occupied by a colored family was blown in, killing one of the children. In the northwestern section of the city much damage was done to the walls of new houses in course of construction.

POLITICAL NEWS.

The Democratic Standard-Bearers Get Acquainted with Each Other.

Some things That Gen. Gresham Don't Know—A Woman Suffrage Address in Favor of Blaine—Campaign Pointers.

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 1.—The event of Thursday was the meeting of the two candidates. When the carriage containing ex-Governor Hendricks drove to the executive mansion, Governor Cleveland stepped to the porch and grasped Mr. Hendricks warmly by the hand. There was no formal introduction. The two men knew each other at a glance. Governor Cleveland led the way into the west parlor, where Mr. Hendricks was introduced to the ladies of the household. In a short time the party, reinforced by Chairman Daniel Manning, of the state Democratic committee, were in the library discussing the political situation. The conference lasted nearly three hours. Governor Cleveland and his guests dined shortly before 6. At 6:45 a carriage was in readiness to convey the party to the depot. Cleveland and Hendricks took leave of each other in a cordial manner. Just before the train started for Saratoga Mr. Hendricks told the United Press representative that he was perfectly satisfied with the conference, and very well pleased with the courtesy, attainments, and sterling character of the head of the Democratic ticket. There was no crowd at the depot to see Mr. Hendricks off.

The Tribune and the Typos.

Chicago, Aug. 1.—The Times' New York special says: A sub-committee of twenty-one from the Central Labor union called at the headquarters of the national Republican committee and held a conference with Chairman Jones and Secretary Fessenden, on the subject of the relations between The Tribune and the Typographical union. At a former conference, last Monday, with several members of the national committee it was agreed by the latter that one of its members should call on Mr. Whitelaw Reid and see what could be done toward bringing about a better understanding between The Tribune and the Typographical union. Mr. S. B. Elkins was the member of the committee who called upon Mr. Reid, and the latter emphatically declared that he would not yield to the union to oblige the national committee, or even James G. Blaine himself. Chairman Jones let the sub-committee of the labor union know this, and thereupon there was a long discussion as to the next step to take. The committee from the Central Labor union then demanded from the Republican national committee a written avowal that they would give no pecuniary assistance to The Tribune during the campaign. Mr. Jones and Mr. Fessenden, speaking for themselves, said they were willing to agree to that, but that they could not speak for the committee. Mr. Jones, however, said that he would get the committee together and lay the proposition before them, and would give the committee's answer not later than Saturday night.

The Woman Suffragists.

New York, Aug. 1.—Elizabeth Cady Stanton and Susan B. Anthony, president and vice president of the National Woman's Suffrage association, have issued an address making some suggestions to co-workers "why they should remain steadfastly with the political party that for the last quarter of a century has most faithfully represented the fundamental principles of Republican government." The address says: "At the opening of the next session, with our bills and reports waiting their turn on the calendars of both houses, it is to the Republicans that we must look for a discussion and decision on our questions; and did they constitute a two-thirds majority we should confidentially hope for the passage of the resolution to submit the sixteenth amendment. But we have nothing to expect from any of the other parties now struggling into existence." The address then discusses the position of the other parties with reference to the woman suffrage question, and concludes: "For these reasons, as we have no votes to offer, we should give our earnest, conscientious support to the Republican party, whose chosen leader is one of the ablest statesmen the country can boast, and who, if elected, will, with the noble women of his family circle, honor the White House and the highest office in the gift of the American people."

Calkins Opens His Campaign.

Richmond, Ind., Aug. 1.—Maj. Calkins, Republican nominee for governor, opened the campaign at Parker's opera house. The building holds about 2,500, and it was crowded. A procession escorted the mayor and other city officials to the opera house. A glee club of sixty-four voices opened the meeting with a campaign song. Hon. L. D. Stubbs, chairman of the county central committee, presided. He read a dispatch from Col. W. W. Dudley, commissioner of pensions, and Calkins' competitor for the nomination, expressing good wishes and cordial support. Mr. Calkins was introduced amid deafening applause, which continued for several minutes. When quiet was restored the speaker addressed the assembly on the issues of the campaign.

Gresham as an "Interviewee."

Chicago, Aug. 1.—Postmaster General Gresham was at the Grand Pacific hotel, but his utterances on politics were extremely guarded. He said he knew positively nothing of politics, and would venture no opinion on Indiana more than to say he thought the Republicans would carry the state.

"Who is going to be Judge Drummond's successor?" asked the reporter.

"I don't know."

"Will you be?"

"I don't know."

"Will the administration support Blaine?"

"I don't kn—I don't think it is necessary for the administration to go around protesting its fealty to Blaine."

Democratic Reception.

New York, Aug. 1.—A reception to the members of the Democratic national and notification committees was given Thursday night by the Manhattan club on Fifth avenue. There were many prominent Democrats present. Among them Charles E. Hooker, of Mississippi; L. G. Kinne, of Iowa; Thomas M. Waller, of Connecticut; George H. Pendleton, of Ohio; Hon. S. S. Cox, of New York, and James P. Barr, of The Pittsburg Post. After a general handshaking, a sumptuous collation was served.

Making a Study of It.

New York, Aug. 1.—The executive committee of the Brooklyn Young Republican club has distributed a pamphlet and circular letter, the former containing a statement of the transact[illegible]s of Mr. Blaine with the Little Rock & S[illegible] Fe railroad, based on Mr. Blaine's own statements, and so much of his speech of June 5, 1876, as concerns the contents of his letters, then produced. The letter asks readers to communicate their views to the president of the Young Republican club not later than Aug. 19. This action is intended to secure a concensus of opinion as to how much consideration the facts presented are entitled.

Ratifying St. John.

New York, Aug. 1.—The Prohibition party of this city and vicinity met in convention to ratify the nomination of Governor St. John for president. Speeches were made by Chauncey Schafer, and Rev. C. J. North (of the Twenty-seventh street Methodist church). The committee on resolutions reported the following:

That it is morally criminal for the state to extend legal sanction and protection by license or otherwise, to the existence of a traffic the only fruits of which are pauperism, crime and increased taxation.

When the question of finance was brought up, a lively discussion took place, and the convention adjourned to meet at a future day.

What the Republicans Claim.

Chicago, Aug. 1.—A New York special to The Inter Ocean says: It is stated at the Republican headquarters that from information received it was safe to say that Blaine would get the electoral vote of all the Northern states, of the states of the Pacific coast, and perhaps a few of the southern states. Even Mississippi and Tennessee are considered doubtful and may go Republican. In reply to a question on what ground these southern states were held to be doubtful, the Secretary said: "The tariff question is a factor in this election on which the Democrats have not counted. Many of the manufacturing interests of the south are closely identified with a protective tariff."

Want to Hear Schurz.

New York, Aug. 1.—Many prominent citizens of Brooklyn have addressed a letter to Carl Schurz, inviting him to give a public address, setting forth his reasons for his announced determination to oppose the Republican nominees and to actively support Governor Cleveland for the presidency, and Mr. Schurz will respond in the Academy of Music on Aug. 5.

"CALL ON THE CLEARING HOUSE."

Advice to a Man Who Wants $215,000 from a Broken Bank.

New York, Aug. 1.—Walter S. Johnston, receiver of the Marine bank, has addressed a letter to George F. Baker, president of the First National bank, on the subject of the latter's claim to a preference to the amount of $215,000 for a bogus check drawn by Ferdinand Ward on the First national and deposited in the Marine. Mr. Johnston denies the existence of any claim for preferences, and goes into an elaborate examination of the law and facts in the case, in which he holds the clearing house responsible for the amount. In conclusion Mr. Johnston suggests what ought to be done as follows:

First—The clearing house should at once proceed to enforce section 13 of its constitution, taking the accounts of the debtor and creditor banks as they stood that morning and correcting yours, and call on the banks with balances against the Marine bank on the exchanges of that day to pay in under the rule $770,063.17, the true debit balance of the Marine bank.

Second—The clearing house then should refund to the Marine bank $555,063.17 illegally taken from its assets after the failure. The remaining $215,000 would be paid to the First National bank. The banks paying the $770,063.17 would become, under the rule creditors for that amount against the Marine bank. This places every one concerned where they would have been if the Marine bank's funds had not been sent up contrary to law, and if the constitution of the clearing house had been carried out. [Signed.]

Walter S. Johnston,
Receiver of the Marine National Bank.

The president of the First National bank has transmitted a copy of Mr. Johnston's letter to the clearing-house, and to each member thereof, requesting the payment of the sum of $215,000 and interest.

A Mysterious Texas Society.

Galveston, Tex., Aug. 1.—Just after the war a well-known society called the "White Camelia" flourished in the south, especially in Texas. At one time it counted over 20,000 members in Texas, drawn from the best people of the state. It is said that the rituals and doings of the "White Camelia" were more solemnly secret in their character than those of any society or body of men in the world. At one time it undoubtedly exercised a powerful secret influence throughout the south, but just what it did to advance the interests of humanity is known only to those who belonged to the order, and, if it did aught to retard human progress, that also is known only to them. No matter what its mission was, it is again coming to the front, whether in its old garb or under a new name is not known. Those who are reorganizing the "White Camelia" or building from its old foundation, are working in profound secrecy and covering their tracks so that it is impossible to learn what the objects of the order are or are likely to be. It is vaguely hinted that the island of Cuba is to be looked after and that Mexican insults to and oppressions of citizens of the United States need a check. One gentleman says that the Key West Cuban revolutionary junta had an active and properly commissioned agent in Galveston who was working up this new society for the purpose of raising men, means, and arms for revolutionary service on that island.

Robbed of Thirteen Thousand.

Pittsburg, Aug. 1.—A special to The Chronicle-Telegraph from Petrolia, Pa., says: Wednesday afternoon three masked men entered the house of Rhody Boyle, a well known farmer, living near St. Joe, and, with revolvers cocked, compelled him to open his safe and give them $13,000 in cash, after which they took to the woods, and have not yet been captured.

Words are at times a feeble medium of expressing gratitude, and Rev. J. E. Reed found them so. He writes from Los Angelos, California: "Words can't tell how glad I am that I found Athlophoros. I took one bottle according to directions, very near, but before I had used it all, the pain was all gone from my face, and no pain has returned since. It did make a ringing in my head sure enough. The discoverer of this remedy for neuralgia will long be remembered by one I know of, with whom I am closely connected."

Modern·Science and Skepticism

What has Skepticism done for the world?

Nothing but to suggest doubts. It has even suggested that Rheumatism cannot be cured. Skepticism is as bad as Rheumatism.

What has Science done for the world?

A good many things; for instance, it has shown that Rheumatism can be cured.

It has shown that Neuralgia can be got rid of.

Modern science has proved that Rheumatism is a blood disease, and has provided Athlophoros as the remedy which can completely cure it.

It has proved that although the old doctors failed to overcome Neuralgia, Athlophoros can reach it, and eradicate it from the system.

It has proved that though these tormenting diseases were so slow and obstinate, they can be overcome in a little while by means of Athlophoros!

Don't be skeptical. If you have any doubts as to what Athlophoros can do, write to some of those whom it has cured. For instance, Rev. S. R. Dennen, D. D., Pastor Third Congregational Church, of New Haven, Conn., the Rev. W. P. Corbit, pastor George St. M. E. Church, of New Haven, the Rev. J. E. Searles, pastor Willett St. M. E. Church, New York city, Mr. Brummell, the well known candy manufacturer, of New York, Ex-Gov. Bigelow, of Connecticut, and many others, equally well known.

If you cannot get Athlophoros of your druggist, we will send it express paid, on receipt of regular price—one dollar per bottle. We prefer that you buy it from your druggist, but if he hasn't it, do not be persuaded to try something else, but order at once from us as directed.

TODD'S INDIA PALE ALE.

The proprietor of Todd's Brewery begs to inform the public that he has introduced into his brewery the manufacture of

INDIA PALE ALE

This ale is brewed on the same principle as the celebrated ales of Bass, Allsop and others of Burton-upon-Trent, England.

Its Advantages.

Will keep in any climate, and remain any length of time on draught.

PURITY.

Is brewed entirely from the finest description of malt, and judicious blending of the hops of the Atlantic and Pacific states.

NO OTHER ADMIXTURE enters into the composition of this splendid Ale. In instances where it is requisite that Ale should have the malt and hop principle developed to a maximum possibility and the alcohol property at a minimum, that desideratum is found in this wholesome Ale.

Sample Room in Brewery alley way, east end; Milwaukee St. Bridge.

TO LONDON BY RAIL.

The Great Railway Scheme Proposed by Lieut. Thrie.

An Interview with Its Original Proposer—Along the West Coast of Alaska and Across Behring's Straits.

CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—The scheme of Lieut Thrie, a naval officer, to build a railway through Alaska is not a new one, says The Herald of this city. It was first proposed seven years ago by Maj. W. H. Kent, who was for several years in the service of the Wabash railway.

Maj. Kent's views are given below:

The proposed western terminus of the Canada Pacific was Fort Simpson, in latitude 54:40, and near the southern boundary of Alaska, the latter universally and erroneously believed to be a land of ice and snow and eternal winter. By following up the trend of the coast to Mount St. Elias, 525 miles, and thence across the main body of the territory to Behring's strait, 1,000 miles more, the route would lead through the Aleut and Yukon districts, the best portion of the old Russian territory. Maps, charts, official records, and old Russian histories were secured and carefully studied, and these, with personal evidence and private letters, all proved that the country to be passed through had the climate of Scotland in the summer and of New Jersey in the winter. Alaska possesses forests equaled only by those of central Africa, stores of the precious metals which will surpass those of California in her palmiest days, the greatest fisheries in the world, a magnificent fur country, and rich deposits of coal, copper and other of earth's treasures, besides being adapted for grazing and wheat raising.

Behring's strait has an average width of thirty-six miles, but at its narrowest point is a cluster of small islands, the Diomede group, standing like sentinels at the gateway between the sunny Pacific and the frozen seas of the north. Here the strait is comparatively free from ice the year round, the water is shallow and furnishes good anchorage for vessels, and the widest space between any two points of land between the island and the two continents is only a mile and a half. Kent claims that this strait can be easily traversed the year round by boats, and also that a tunnel is practicable within a reasonable limit of expense. Crossing the strait is one of the least difficult steps in the proposed line.

From Cape East, on the Asiatic side, the coast would be hugged as closely as the conformity of the country would permit in order to obtain the benefit of the milder temperature which here, as in Alaska, is caused by the Kuri Siwo or Japanese current, similar to the Gulf stream, but larger. The southern terminus of the road would be at Vladiovski, an important port on the Russian frontier, near the mouth of the Amoor. This section of the line would be longer than that through Alaska, but a large portion of it would traverse the country declared to have the climate of Italy, thanks to the Japanese current. At the southern terminus a junction would be made with the Russian system of railroads now pushing down the old caravan route toward Irkoutsk, the capital of Siberia. At the point of proposed junction Russia spent $3,000,000 last year in colonizing the province roundabout. When the Russian and American extremities of the line met it would form a continuous line from Boston to London or Liverpool.

Kent claims that there are no climatic or other natural obstacles to interfere with the building and continuous operation of such a road, and that it will certainly be built some time in the future. The necessities of commerce and transcontinental communication may not demand it now, and may not for several years to come, but he regards both the demand and the supply as a mere question of time.

He has corresponded with the Russian government, and received the most flattering encouragement from Gen. Anbril, minister of the interior, and others, being urged to visit St. Petersburg in person. He was assured that if he did not receive the substantial aid desired, he would at least be decorated and otherwise suitably rewarded. In America, he says, his greatest encouragement has been from railroad men of widest experience. S. T. Curgess, chief engineer of the Denver & Rio Grande road, the most difficult piece of railroad engineering over done in the west, pronounced the plan "the grandest proposed in the present century and entirely practicable." Assistant General Manager Kimball, of the Union Pacific; who is familiar with the northern country, says that "the project is not half as visionary as the building of the Union Pacific, nor a tenth part as chimerical as the Mexican Central, both of which are now realities."

DIED IN HORRIBLE AGONY.

Fate of a Girl Who Took Carbolic Acid.

BOSTON, Aug. 1.—Jenny Bartlett, 19 years of age, living at 4 Indiana place with her sister, committed suicide Thursday morning by swallowing an ounce of carbolic acid. The young woman came to Bangor two years ago and for some time had been out of work. The sisters were very petty and had received attentions from two policemen. Jennie's admirer broke an engagement with her Wednesday evening, and was subsequently seen by her in a saloon. She went home crying, wrote a note to her deceiver, saying that she had done more for him than she would for any other man, and then swallowed the acid. Her screams aroused the neighbors. The death scene was terrible, the victim's writhings being indescribably horrible. The post mortem showed that the stomach was burned to a crisp.

Prizes for Photographers.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 1.—At the Photographers' convention the committee on awards made the following report: For first prize on work, 11x14 and larger, F. W. Guerin, St. Louis, Mo.; for first prize for best collection of cabinets and other sizes below 11x14, J. E. Hale, Seneca Falls, N. Y.; for first prize for best collection of views, J. Landy, Cincinnati.

The following officers were elected: President, James Landy; permanent secretary, Leo Weingartner, both of Cincinnati; G. H. Carlise, Providence, treasurer; Joshua Smith, of Chicago, and W. A. Armstrong, of Milwaukee, members of the executive committee. The convention then adjourned.

A Rascal Raises Money.

ELKTON, Md., Aug. 1.—A man calling himself J. Ryan, pretending to be the agent of a firm of contractors working on some railroad that could be reached by steamer from Chesapeake City, swindled seventy Italian laborers out of $5.50 each. He enlisted the men and gave them spurious passage tickets for their money. Forty of the men came from Newark, Del., being brought down by an agent of the swindler on the train.

CONDENSED NEWS.

Rev. Mark Pattison, a distinguished English essayist, died in London.

The Republicans of the Ninth district of Indiana have nominated Maj. J. C. Doxey for congress.

At Hot Springs, Ark., wooden buildings valued at $75,000 were destroyed by flames originating in a lamp explosion.

The pacers Johnson and Richball have been matched for a race at Cleveland within three weeks, for a purse of $5,000.

Mrs. Deuster, mother of the Milwaukee congressman, who settled in Wisconsin territory in 1847, will be buried on Sunday.

The American artists in Paris are subscribing to a fund with which to procure for the city a bronze model of Bartholdi's statue.

The police of Pittsburg captured four colored burglars, who had six large trunks containing watches, diamonds, sealskins, and silks, valued at $10,000.

A coroner's jury at Toronto has found ample evidence to sustain the charge that Mrs. Christina Leslie starved a number of illegitimate children left in her keeping.

The school census of Chicago, just completed, indicates a population of 629,985, an increase of 12½ per cent. within a year. The Chinese number 297 and the colored people 7,517.

All railways running from Chicago and St. Louis to the Missouri river have issued orders for an advance on freights to Colorado to the basis of 90 cents for first-class, commencing Aug. 1.

Edwin S. Leland, of Ottawa, Ills., sends The Chicago Times a statement that the Republican party was christened in that city thirty years ago, Aug. 1, 1854, some time in advance of the gathering at Strong, Mo.

The failures are announced of John Caswell & Co., tea dealers of New York, heretofore rated at $1,000,000; P. M. Hargrave, a banker at Lampasas, Tex., whose liabilities are $40,000, and John Kimpel, a carriage manufacturer in St. Louis.

Peter McGeoch, in his examination before a commission at Milwaukee, testified that he sent $250,000 to Chicago after his failure, and had altogether paid about $990,000 since the collapse of his speculation in lard.

An association formed in Hamburg has purchased 134,000 acres of land in the corner of North Carolina next to Georgia. The agent will compromise with 1,500 squatters, and intends to colonize 2,000 or more Germans on the tract.

The Franco-Chinese War Closed.

LONDON, Aug. 1.—The Times denies the report that a treaty of peace between France and China has been signed. It has information that the payment of indemnity demanded by France has been refused and that preparations for an immediate attack upon Foo Chow are being made. In consequence of this state of affairs, the captain of the English flag-ship stationed in the harbor has ordered sailors to be landed to protect the lives and property of English residents of the city.

The Times also states that an extensive fleet of Chinese merchant ships has been sold to an American firm for 5,250,000 taels ($7,875,000).

Lowell at Malvern College.

MALVERN, Eng., Aug. 1.—Minister Lowell presented the prizes awarded to the graduates at Malvern college, and delivered an address to the students. He spoke of the growth of education in general, and alluded to the desire for learning evinced by the early colonists of Massachusetts, one outcome of which had been the founding of Harvard university. He observed with pleasure the indications that America and England were growing more friendly day by day, and declared it to be his chief ambition to have a part in furthering this growth of cordial relations between the two great English-speaking communities.

A Buffalo Bill Performer Hurt.

HARTFORD, Conn., Aug. 1.—During a performance of the Buffalo Bill combination at Chester Oak park Maj. North (white), captain of the Pawnee Indians, while riding furiously, was thrown violently to the ground by the breaking of his saddle girth. His horse stepped upon him, breaking several ribs and inflicting other injuries likely to prove fatal.

Obituary.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Aug. 1.—Capt. Philip J. Ryan, one of the most prominent citizens of western Massachusetts, died suddenly Thursday, aged 50. He was a native of Dublin, and rose from the rank of private to that of captain in the Federal ranks during the rebellion.

Chronic Diseases.

A Special Study for Years.

Dr. F. B. BREWER

Has made Chronic Diseases of the

Throat, Lungs, Heart, Stomach Liver, Kidneys, Nerves and Blood.

A special treatment for years. He is not a boastful, ignorant pretender, but an educated physician, seeking to do good, by devoting his talent and energies to the treatment of a class of maladies that have been with him a long and patient study. To be able to treat successfully chronic diseases it requires that a physician should be a sound, thorough scholar in the art of science and medicine generally. He should give his entire time to their study, be thorough in his investigations and have a long and varied experience. Dr. Brewer claims to work no wonders or to do any more than any well educated physician can do, who devotes his whole time to the study and treatment of chronic diseases exclusively, and has had his many years' of experience. For years Dr. Brewer has visited the the places he now visits, and has obtained his reputation by being honest in his dealings, candid in opinions and reasonable in his charges. Those who are afflicted are invited to call, investigate and decide for themselves. It will cost nothing to do so. Address all letters to

A MARVELOUS STORY

TOLD IN TWO LETTERS.

FROM THE SON: "28 Cedar St., New York, Oct. 28, 1882.

"Gentlemen: My father resides at Glover, Vt. He has been a great sufferer from Scrofula, and the inclosed letter will tell you what a marvelous effect has had in his case. I think his blood must have contained the humor for at least ten years; but it did not show, except in the form of a scrofulous sore on the wrist, until about five years ago. From a few spots which appeared at that time, it gradually spread so as to cover his entire body. I assure you he was terribly afflicted, and an object of pity, when he began using your medicine. Now, there are few men of his age who enjoy as good health as he has. I could easily name fifty persons who would testify to the facts in his case.

Yours truly, W. M. PHILLIPS."

FROM THE FATHER: "It is both a pleasure and a duty for me to state to you the benefit I have derived from the use of

Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Six months ago I was completely covered with a terrible humor and scrofulous sores. The humor caused an incessant and intolerable itching, and the skin cracked so as to cause the blood to flow in many places whenever I moved. My sufferings were great, and my life a burden. I commenced the use of the SARSAPARILLA in April last, and have used it regularly since that time. My condition began to improve at once. The sores have all healed, and I feel perfectly well in every respect—being now able to do a good day's work, although 73 years of age. Many inquire what has wrought such a cure in my case, and I tell them, as I have here tried to tell you, AYER'S SARSAPARILLA. Glover, Vt., Oct. 21, 1882. Yours gratefully,

HIRAM PHILLIPS."

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA cures Scrofula and all Scrofulous Complaints, Erysipelas, Eczema, Ringworm, Blotches, Sores, Boils, Tumors, and Eruptions of the Skin. It clears the blood of all impurities, aids digestion, stimulates the action of the bowels, and thus restores vitality and strengthens the whole system.

TUTT'S PILLS

TORPID BOWELS, DISORDERED LIVER, and MALARIA.

From these sources arise three-fourths of the diseases of the human race. These symptoms indicate their existence: Loss of Appetite, Bowels costive, Sick Headache, fullness after eating, aversion to exertion of body or mind, Eructation of food, Irritability of temper, Low spirits, A feeling of having neglected some duty, Dizziness, Fluttering at the Heart, Dots before the eyes, highly colored Urine, CONSTIPATION, and demand the use of a remedy that acts directly on the Liver. As a Liver medicine TUTT'S PILLS have no equal. Their action on the Kidneys and Skin is also prompt; removing all impurities through these three "scavengers of the system," producing appetite, sound digestion, regular stools, a clear skin and a vigorous body. TUTT'S PILLS cause no nausea or griping nor interfere with daily work and are a perfect

ANTIDOTE TO MALARIA.

HE FEELS LIKE A NEW MAN.

"I have had Dyspepsia, with Constipation, two years, and have tried ten different kinds of pills, and TUTT'S are the first that have done me any good. They have cleaned me out nicely. My appetite is splendid, food digests readily, and I now have natural passages. I feel like a new man." W. D. EDWARDS, Palmyra, O.

Badger Cooking Stoves and Ranges,

BURN HARD COAL, SOFT COAL OR WOOD. Have been THOROUGHLY TESTED, and their practibility IS FULLY ENDORSED. Read what is said about them:

Janesville, Wis., Feb. 19, 1881.

Badger Stove Company, Janesville.

Gents: After giving the Badger Range a fair trial, it affords me great pleasure in saying that the test has been in every respect most satisfactory. I find in it all you claim for it, namely: the most perfect cooking arrangement I have had the pleasure of seeing. Its mechanical construction is so perfect, and the ease by which it can be controlled, will enable any one of ordinary intelligence to make its use a complete success. For baking purposes it is first-class. The amount of fuel required for its use is less than any stove I ever saw, that would accomplish an equal work. Another strong point in its favor, is to be able to keep up a fire night and day. After holding the fire through night, in the morning we get our breakfast by the same fire, without any addition of coal or rubbing in kindling. In conclusion, permit me to say that if I could not get another I would not part with my range for twice the amount of the purchase price.

Yours truly, N. DEARBORN.

Janesville, Wis. March 7, 1881.

Badger Stove Company, Janesville.

Gentlemen: Having a desire to procure a cooking stove that would work with the least possible difficulty in burning coal—as I am about to move to Dakota—I took home and tried one of your No. 8 Badger Stoves, and have now put it several days with the greatest success, and this my first experience in using coal for cooking purposes. It is quick in its action with either coal or wood, heating evenly all four griddles, with no lack of heating reservoir especially. The baking is beyond question second to no fire I have ever seen in a kitchen.

GEO. H. CULVER, Shopiere.

Janesville, Wis., Feb. 19, 1881.

Badger Stove Company, Janesville.

In reply to how I like the Badger Range, would say it fills the bill in every particular. I have used it with coal, wood and coke. With coal can easily keep a continuous fire, and it is so ready to bake at six o'clock in evening as at any time of building fresh fire. As compared with other ranges used by my neighbors, I consider the Badger King

HEAVEN.

[Julia Ditts Young in The Current.]

We dream, sometimes, of that dim, far-off land,
Our journey's end, our home, second birth:
We only dream—we cannot understand
That wondrous riddance of the woes of earth.
No failure there, no loss and no decay,
No tempest, but clear shining after rain;
Like mists, life's myriad cares shall fade away,
While all good things we knew on earth remain.

The singer's voice in sweeter strains shall rise;
The poet's verse in nobler numbers flow;
Fair landscapes wait the painter's raptured eyes;
And gazers on the stars at last shall know
The very heart of all their mysteries;
And Nature's faithful lovers shall not end
Their lifelong quest of blossoms, birds, and bees,
But placid hours in peaceful wooderaft spend.

They who on earth were doomed to dwell
In crowded cities' heavy stifling air,
May wander through a cool and fenny dell
Beside fresh waters fringed with flowers rare.
The pale and shrunken victims of disease,
And they who writhed beneath the lash of pain,
Shall feeling find in every passing breeze,
And all their pristine bounding strength regain.

The worker's worn and weary hands shall rest,
The bent back straighten in a gracious ease;
The heart cease aching in the mourner's breast;
The baffled student then may grasp the keys
Of soul and sense and many a mighty truth;
And they who faint with age—life's last, worst ill—
Shall quaff the spring of sweet eternal youth,
And face the long, fair future, children still.

Origin of Ammonia.

Ammonia is obtained in large quantities by the putrefaction of the urine of animals.—Encyclopedia Brittannica.

Every housekeeper can test baking powders containing this disgusting drug by placing a can of "Royal" or "Andrews' Pearl" top down on a hot stove until heated, then remove the cover and smell.

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder does not contain Ammonia, Alum, Lime, Potash, Bone Phosphates. Prove it by the above test. It is prepared by a Physician and Chemist with special regard to cleanliness and healthfulness.

"This is to certify that I have examined, analyzed and tested Dr. Price's Special Flavoring Extracts of Vanilla, Orange, Lemon, Celery, etc., and find the same strong, fine, made of good material, and therefore gladly commend them for family use.

Society Girls' Amanuensis.

[Enquirer Interview.]

"Didn't you know that we society girls had to employ an amanuensis as well as you business men? The weather is too warm and our correspondence too voluminous for us to think of writing or answering our own notes, especially since there is a real nice girl—you know her; she was in our set before her father failed—who will come whenever she is wanted to write them for us.

"Some of the girls have her call one morning each week, others once in two weeks and others monthly. I believe she promises to write in a different style for each person, but it is hard to do, as she must have nearly twenty regular customers. She will write a note just as dictated or else dress up her patron's ideas in words of her own. And if it is wished she will furnish even the stationery. She must make a good deal of money, as she charged me $1.50 for about three formal invitations, which she fixed up in less than an hour. I believe she charges pretty high for long letters of a sentimental nature only. I wish I knew all the secrets and gossip that she does."

A Cure of Pneumonia.

Mr. D. H. Barnaby, of Owego, N. Y., says that his daughter was taken with a violent cold which terminated with Pneumonia, and all the best physicians gave the case up and said she could live but a few hours at most. She was in this condition when a friend recommended DR. HALL'S BALSAM FOR THE LUNGS, and advised her to try it. She accepted it as a last resort, and was surprised to find that it produced a marked change for the better, and by persevering a permanent cure was effected.

Warning to Pyramid Climbers.

[Cairo Letter.]

There is just one thing that has not been said about climbing the pyramids, and I have a deep-seated conviction that it is reserved for me to proclaim that one thing. The pyramids are death on breeches. Although I was equipped with a very respectable pair of pants when I began, I found myself almost bereft of them when I reached terra firma again, and had to side along on the homeward trip. This wrinkle is thrown out gratuitously. I believe no writer has hitherto been practical or philanthropic enough to announce this fact. Get your trousers lined with leather before you start.

Their Summer Jottings.

[Inter Ocean.]

Four bright young ladies, representing Cincinnati, New Orleans, St. Louis, and Chicago, have agreed to write down their various experience at summer resorts this year, and at the close of the season give their diaries to a prominent correspondent.

The history of Downs' Elixir is identified with the history of New England for the last fifty years. It cures coughs and colds.

What Actors Should Eat.

Shoemakers and butchers, says a writer in a French dramatic review, can eat what they please. Not so actors, who must vary their food to suit the parts they play.

In the first place, they must not eat artichokes, for artichokes make people sputter in talking.

When a singer orders rabbits at a restaurant he must ask to see the head, to make sure that he is not being imposed upon.

The cat is the tenor's worst enemy.

Singers must also eschew sweets. Basses and heavy villians generally must eat game, especially the dark meat, and drink heavy wines. Wild boar is good, but not the tame variety.

The man who plays the hero should feed upon raw roast beef, washed down with old port wine.

The ingenues should avoid high seasoning and rich sauces. Chicken and spinach, with milk as a beverage; but let them beware the calf's head.

Of course the young man who takes the lover's part should fly from beefsteak and onions as from a pestilence.

Those who play such diaphanous parts as the commander in "Don Juan" and the elder Mr. Hamlet should not be allowed to dine at all.

Housekeepers throughout the country have been using Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder for a generation, and have ever found it as pure and good as the wheat it raises so splendidly. Housekeepers do not care to experiment when experience has proven that they have found a good article—as Dr. Price's Cream Powder, they will stand by it.

A large proportion of the Baking Powder sold is fearfully adulterated. A strictly pure Baking Powder is made of two articles only, viz: Bi. Carb. Soda and Grape Cream Tartar. No other ingredients can be found in LeLand's Chemical Baking Powder.

Is Your Blood Pure?

For impure blood the best medicine known, SCOVILL'S SARSAPARILLA OR BLOOD AND LIVER SYRUP, may be implicitly relied on when everything else fails. Take it in the spring time especially for the impure secretions of the blood incident to that season of the year; and take it at all times, for Cancer Scrofula, Liver Complaints, Weakness, Boils, Tumors, Swellings, Sore Diseases, Malaria, and the thousand ills that come from impure blood! To ensure a cheerful disposition take SCOVILL'S BLOOD AND LIVER SYRUP which will restore the mind to its natural equilibrium.

The Latest Poison Scare.

[Cuspar's" New York letter.]

This time it is the water obtained from bored wells that is made the cause of a poison scare. Some health-board doctors have been analyzing it, and they report that it is highly deleterious—in fact dangerous. Most of the water they have examined has been used in the manufacture of mineral water, and since their report was made there has been a rapid spread of belief that it is much safer to drink mineral water than to drink it—to the marked detriment of the trade in that beverage. Though some of the water is brought from a depth of 200 feet, the doctors say it is none the safer for that. No matter how far below the surface it may be, the drainage gets down to it, contaminates it and makes it unfit for the much persecuted human stomach.

It is the most wonderful thing in the world that everybody living in Gotham, or even visiting in it, did not die by poisoning long ago. At one time or another the health board doctors have told us that the wine, whisky and beer we drank are poisoned, our tea and coffee are poisoned; a great deal of the meat we eat is poisoned; even the air we breathe, in our rooms or out of them, is rank with poison; every way we turn there is poison, poison, poison rigist before us. And yet, somehow, we don't die a bit faster than other people. Even the health board itself has to admit that the death rate is steadily declining. New York is better off now, in a sanitary sense, than it has been for years. As for that poisonous water scare, it probably won't amount to much, and I think there is very little cause for it anyway.

The Echo.

How like the echo is the human system. If we speak kindly the echo answers likewise. If we care for our system we have good health. If we ignore nature's laws we incur ill health. For all troubles of the stomach, liver, blood or kidneys, use Dr. Jones' Red Clover Tonic. It speedily cures dyspepsia, costiveness, bad breath, piles, pimples, acne and malaria diseases, poor appetite, low spirits, headache, and makes general health excellent. Can be taken by the most delicate. Price 50 cents, of Stearns & Baker.

Hahnemann's Cholera Cure.

[Chicago Times.]

A remedy for the cholera, which it is said was the result of many experiments made by Dr. Hahnemann, the founder of homeopathy, consists of veratrum album, in five-minute doses of eight or ten globules each, in water. No water or other drink is to be allowed. Vomiting is to be checked by frequent solutions of three to five drops of spirits of camphor, and arsenicum metallicum album is to be used in like quantities should the body become cold.

Hay Fever.

From Col. J. Maidhof, of New York: I have suffered severely for the last ten years from Hay Fever in early and midsummer and in the fall. I desire in the interest of my fellow sufferers to testify in favor of Ely's Cream Balm. My short use of it demonstrated its efficacy. J. Maidhof, 401 Broadway.

I can recommend Ely's Cream Balm to relieve all persons suffering from Rose cold and Hay Fever I have been a great sufferer from these complaints and have used it. I have recommended it to many of my friends for Catarrh, and in all cases where they have used the Balm freely they have been cured. T. KINNEY, Dry Goods Merchant, Ithaca, N. Y.

Spurgeon's Jokes.

[London Truth.]

I remember a grave pastor remonstrating with the mighty Baptist. "I wonder how," said the dull old fellow, "how you, as an influential minister, can reconcile it to your conscience to make so many jokes in the pulpit?" "You wouldn't though," said Spurgeon, "if you knew how many I kept to myself."

Paris' Bad Matches.

[American Queen.]

Matches are fearfully dear in Paris, and horribly bad. They only ignite the feelings against them. A savant has calculated that it takes two matches to light the gas, three to light a candle, four a cigarette, eighteen a government cigarette, twenty-two a cigar, thirty-two a pipe, and 200 to light the fire in a stove.

Don't Spill the Milk.

"There is no use crying over spilled milk," says the old saw. If you are not only bald, but have no life in the roots of your hair, there is no use crying over that, either. Take both time and yourself by the forelock while there is a forelock left. Apply Parker's Hair Balsam to your hair before matters get worse. It will arrest the falling off of your hair and restore its original color, gloss and softness. It is a perfect dressing withal, clean, richly perfumed, cools and heals the scalp.

"The Colintess."

[New York Cor. Utica Observer.]

The city is dull. Business is dead. So are all the winter forms of amusement. Only one drama and one comic opera are being performed this week in legitimate theatres. Years ago the season did not close until the Fourth of July. Now there is no profit after May. But the managers, though afraid of the counter attractions of a presidential campaign, are full of booming and burlesque will be dominant. However, there is one theatrical proprietor who believes there will be room for at least a new Shakespearean actress. He is in negotiation with three foreigners. All are either Russian or Polish. He intends to close a bargain with one of them—which, is as yet indefinite. But he will introduce her as a countess, whichever she may be, and her biography is in type.

"How can you do that?" I asked.

"Easy enough," he replied. "We've stereotyped and printed the pages in which she is merely mentioned as the 'Countess,' and have held back those in which her whole name with the few and only facts can be inserted."

Cheerful Conversation

is one of the pleasantest amenities of life. But a fluent talker whose "gems of thought" drop from lips which disclose yellow teeth going to rack and ruin, makes less impression than he or she otherwise would. Bear this in mind, conversationalists, and lend added force to your utterances by keeping your teeth white and pure with ZOZODONT, wholesomest and most thorough of tooth preparations, which removes tartar, renders the gums healthy and purifies the breath.

Great Possibilities.

[Arkansaw Traveler.]

"Is it correct to say have went?" was asked of a young man. "I don't know," he replied. "Why, I thought that you graduated from a university?" "So I did, but you see we never had anything to do with the English language. I fear that it admits of great possibilities."

Brieflets.

—Rev. Arthur Piper will officiate in Trinity church on Sunday next, morning and evening. Holy communion at the 10:30 o'clock service.

—The mechanics' picnic at Boub's Grove yesterday, was not very largely attended, and did not continue late into the evening as was expected.

—The steamer Enterprise has been chartered for the Temple of Honor and Good Templar's picnic at Pope's Springs on Thursday of next week. The fare for the round trip will be twenty-five cents.

—By reference to our report of the interments in Oak Hill cemetery during the month of July, it will be seen that of the five interments but three are credited to the city of Janesville. For the corresponding month in 1883 there were seven interments from the city.

—Mr. S. Wyler, the cigar manufacturer next door south of the Gazette office, has just put up a very neat and attractive sign over his front door. The sign was lettered by Messrs. Rogers & Hutchinson, painters, East Milwaukee street.

—The children from three or four country school districts are holding a joint picnic at Pope's Springs to-day. A carryall load of invited guests from the city joined their "country cousins" this noon, and all are having a most delightful time in the woods.

—The funeral of the late Mr. Paul Parish will be held at his late residence, Milton avenue at 2 o'clock on Sunday afternoon, Rev. Dr. M. G. Hodge, of the Baptist church, officiating. The remains will be buried in Oak Hill cemetery by the Odd Fellows fraternity.

—The picnic and celebration in honor of the emancipation of the slaves in the British West Indies, will be held in Patten's Grove, on Monday next, August 4th, to conclude with a grand ball, Anderson's orchestra furnishing the music. Large delegations from abroad are expected to be present.

—A gang of unruly boys have been committing depredations in Mr. Chapman's unoccupied lot, (old. Hutson place,) stealing apples, and other fruit. Yesterday some of the boys were captured, and taken before the municipal court when their case was adjourned, in order that others might be captured. A severe penalty is attached to such depredations.

—One of our most enthusiastic democratic friends was heard to say to a republican friend, who rather had the best of him in an argument, "You just wait until WE get St. John here to speak." St. John may be a "trick card" in democratic card playing, but the republicans hold a hand to euchre the whole combination of parties, and that will be the result of the game in November.

—It was talked on the east side of the river to-day that, as the west side people had more freight facilities than they want, that a meeting be held and propositions tendered the Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad to induce them to locate their depot on the east side of the river. This would put the west and east side on the same basis in this direction, and would be of advantage to all concerned.

—The recital given by the pupils of Miss Helen R. Porter, last evening, in her music parlors, was largely attended, and the audience was well repaid. The pupils acquitted themselves in a very satisfactory manner, which showed that they had been under the instruction of a thorough and competent teacher. We will not attempt to particularize where each pupil rendered her part in so satisfactory a manner.

—At their meeting on Wednesday evening the Blaine and Logan Invisibles instructed the committee to purchase one hundred uniforms for the company. The money for the purchase was easily raised and more, and this morning Mr. Chas. Atwood, president of the company, and Lieutenant Thor. Judd, went to Chicago, intending to purchase two hundred uniforms. The Blaine and Logan enthusiasm is on a regular boom, which will increase as the campaign progresses.

—Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton Richardson entertained a large number of friends last night, at their spacious residence in the Second ward. It was a particularly happy gathering of friends and neighbors, at which all present richly enjoyed the unstinted hospitality of the host and hostess. The occasion afforded many of our citizens a chance to become acquainted with Major-General John C. Robinson, of New York, formerly lieutenant-governor of that state, who is a brother-in-law of Mrs. Richardson.

A Birth-Day Surprise.

One of the happiest surprises of the season will take place this evening at the home of Miss M. A. Gould, in the third ward. To-day is the birth-day of her mother—Mrs. James Gould—and to make the surprise thoroughly complete the daughter induced the mother to go on a visit to-day, while the extensive preparations were being made at the home for her reception this evening. The surprise is most ingeniously arranged by Miss Gould, and to the mother it will be among the most pleasant memories of her life.

FIRST WARD RESIDENTS

They Express Their Objections to Surrendering Their Rights to the Railroad Companies.

And Request that the New Depot be Located at a Less Objectional Point.

Synopsis of the Speeches and the Resolutions Adopted.

A Committee Appointed to Lay the Matter Before the Common Council.

The public meeting of the citizens of the first ward, in the common council chamber last evening, called for the purpose of discussing the proposed improvements now in progress in this city by the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railway company, was very well attended, Mr. John W. Sale called the meeting to order, briefly stating the objects for calling the people of the ward together, and moved that Mr. F. S. Lawrence be elected chairman, which motion prevailed. Mr. E. W. Lowell was then chosen as secretary.

In answer to the inquiry of the chairman, "Gentlemen, what is the pleasure of the meeting?" Hon. John Winans took the floor and stated the opposition of himself and a large number of the residents of the first ward to the erection of the new depot of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad company. Mr. Winans went over the entire ground, and said in substance that at the suggestion of numerous residents of the first ward who had suffered long and grievously, he had been instrumental in calling this meeting. The Chicago, Milwaukee and St Paul railway company was about to erect a new freight depot on Race street, between Academy and High streets, which would cause more switching in that locality, and if allowed to proceed without the people of the first ward expressing their opposition, it would be virtually surrendering to the railway company the use of the streets west of Jackson street. The Northwestern company had switch yards south of the depots with a network of tracks, and persons residing on the Galena road and in the northwestern portion of the city, were obliged to drive north to cross the tracks. It was hazardous to the lives of the people who resided in the first ward; and if the people were going to sit idly by and allow the company to build the proposed depot where they intended building it, they might as well move out of the ward. If this depot was allowed at this point, the streets (Jackson and Academy) would be used for the storage of freight cars and a switch yard. The people suffered a great inconvenience and delay by cars being left standing on the tracks. The property owners could not afford to sit by without taking some action. The railroad company should not expect the people to surrender the streets to its use. The company has plenty of land without the necessity of encroaching upon the public streets, and said it was the duty of the common council to invoke all their power in behalf of the people against this outrage. He had, at the suggestion of other residents of the first ward, prepared some resolutions, which he read as follows:

WHEREAS, The railroad companies for a long time past have made unreasonable uses of Jackson, High, Academy, Bluff and Pleasant streets as freight and switch yards, thereby obstructing said streets and rendering their use by the public extremely dangerous, and

WHEREAS, Said use also materially affects the value of real property in the first ward, and

WHEREAS, Our citizens have time and again protested to said companies and to the common council of the city against such unnecessary and unreasonable use of said streets, by petitions numerously signed, which protests have been disregarded by said companies and said council, and

WHEREAS, The Milwaukee & St. Paul company are about to erect a new freight house between High and Academy streets the erection and use of which will greatly add to the wrongs and danger heretofore and now complained of, and will perpetuate the same; Therefore

Resolved, That with no unfriendly feeling toward said companies, and conceding to them the right to a reasonable use of said streets in common with the public; we do most earnestly protest against their continued and further use as switch and freight yards, and request the St. Paul company to locate its new freight house at some other and less objectionable point than the one now proposed.

Resolved, That the common council of said city be and is hereby requested to intercede for our relief, and if necessary, to exercise all the power vested in it by the charter and laws to protect us from the wrongs and damages complained of.

Resolved, That in the opinion of this meeting said common council has the right to prohibit the use of said public streets for freight and switch yards; that it has the right to prohibit their incumbrance with standing cars, engines, lumber, machinery, and other material; that it has the right to require flagmen and gates to be placed at each of said street crossings; that it has the right to regulate and limit the speed of all moving trains in said city; that it may require said companies to plank said street crossings to their full width; that it has the right to restrain said companies from propelling their cars by steam power within said city or any part thereof; and that it may pass ordinances to enforce any of said rights, and impose penalties for violation; and it is the sense of this meeting that each and every of said powers should be invoked by said council until the relief demanded shall be given.

Resolved, That in the opinion of this meeting the existing ordinance in relation to the obstruction of said streets by said companies with its standing cars, should be limited to not exceeding five minutes, and said ordinance rigidly enforced by said city.

Resolved, That a committee of ten be appointed by the chairman of this meeting, whose duty it shall be to present these resolutions to said common council and urge upon it immediate action in the premises, and that said committee be authorized to call such public meetings from time to time hereafter as it shall deem proper.

Mr. Winans then moved that the resolutions be adopted as the sense of the meeting:

Mr. Sale stated that he would like something more effective. It seemed to him that the inevitable result of placing the building where it is would be making the first ward, west of Jackson street a switch yard, which was unjust and should not be submitted to without a struggle. He had heard that there was no switching to be done there, but that was all well enough to talk while building a depot. He seconded the motion for the adoption of the resolutions.

Mr. Winans stated that the object he had in drawing the resolutions was to place them before the council, whose duty he thought it was to protect the citizens from what he considered a nuisance. The council could do it more effectually than an individual. This was not a groundless complaint, as everybody must concede. South of the depots the city had virtually abandoned the streets to the use of the companies, but the people could not surrender everything to the railroads. He was not an enemy to the companies, but wanted them to do business here, and if the council would not take any action in the matter the courts would be resorted to for justice.

Mr. A. A. Jackson, attorney for the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul company, stated that he did not wish to influence the company for or against the resolutions offered by Mr. Winans, and that he did not wish to justify any wrongs of the railroad company. He thought he understood the affairs of the company as well as any person in the ward not connected with the company. This was not a new subject to him. He had labored with the residents of the ward, and with the officials of the company to cause the removal of any existing nuisances. He thought Mr. Winans was mistaken about the amount of switching done upon the streets. The rules of the company were very stringent regarding the blockading of the streets, and the conductors of trains were held personally responsible for any violation of orders in this respect, and it was the duty of the agent to report all such violations. A great many trains were passing over the streets every day, and if the company moved their yards to Monterey or on the bluff on the east side of the river, there would be complaints from some one. The trains cannot get out of town without crossing some of the streets. The tracks were there when Mr. Winans moved into the ward, and there was not as much switching done over the principal streets as in former years, and there would be still less when the new depot was built. He had no objections to the resolutions being offered.

Mr. Winans having alluded to a conversation he had with Superintendent Collins, Mr. T. T. Croft, agent of the St. Paul company in Janesville, presented the following letter expressing Mr. Collins' views:

MILWAUKEE, July, 30, 1884.

T. T. Croft, Esq., Agent C. M. & St. Paul R. R.:

DEAR SIR:—I have noted what the Janesville newspapers say in the call for a public meeting to take action in the matter of the new freight depot. I would advise that you attend the meeting and to explain to the people who may assemble on that occasion, that our train switching is done west of our present passenger depot; the location of the new freight depot was made with direct reference to relieving the east end of the Janesville yard from much of the switching that has been done there. It is not the intention of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railway company to do switching over streets that are constantly being used for driving purposes, as you well know by the orders sent you from time to time from this office. The improvements we are going to make in Janesville will be of great advantage to our patrons, and will be of a permanent character, adding to the facilities of shippers at your station, and we cannot understand how any resident of your city should oppose the contemplated improvements when they are made with a view of lessening the switching across Jackson and other streets. I trust when this matter is fully explained to your people that they will feel satisfied that our aim is not to antagonize but to please the public.

Yours truly,

S. J. COLLINS, Supt.

The discussion continued at some length by Messrs. John Winans, J. W. Sale, A. A. Jackson, T. T. Croft, S. Trulson, A. M. Valentine, Wm. Street and H. F. Bliss.

Mr. Trulson stated that he had resided in the ward a number of years, and that frequently he had been delayed at the crossings by the cars blockading the streets. He had been compelled to climb over platform cars in order to get to his place of business, and had often waited fifteen minutes for the cars to be moved off the streets

Mr. Valentine was dealing with railroads, and would take a superintendent's word as soon as he would any man's in the city. He believed the company would work for the interest of the public, provided it did not clash with their own interest.

Mr. Street had frequently timed trains standing on the streets for half an hour.

H. F. Bliss said that he was not in the employ of the railroad and in no way obligated to them; that he had been a liberal patron of both roads for a good many years, and while he was in favor of the city demanding the enforcement of rigid rules as regards flagmen and gates at the principal street crossings, yet he thought the resolutions proposed were more radical than the occasion demanded. He believed that the statement made by the company's agent, Mr. Croft, in regard to the new depot having a tendency to lessen the switching on the principal streets, to be correct. He had been a resident of the first ward for some time, and during the past fifteen years had not lost half an hour altogether waiting for trains at the Jackson street crossing.

The resolutions were then adopted and the chair appointed as the committee to present the matter to the common council, Messrs. John Winans, J. W. Sale, W. F. Carle, S. Trulson, J. W. Nash, J. A. Denniston, D. Conger, E. D. Tallman, A. M. Valentine and N. O. Clark.

The meeting then adjourned.

Mrs. H. C. Bull.

A new house, fronting south, and with a home look, has been erected on Ravine street, in the First ward; it is in the shade of graceful elms, and so near to the home of Mr. E. G. Fifield, that the location will be readily recognized. It has been built for, and is already occupied by Mrs. H. C. Bull, widow of Gen. H. C. Bull, late of Bull City, Kansas. Mrs. Bull is well and favorably known to many of our older residents; she is a sister of the Messrs Fifield, and resided here before and after her marriage, and is now kindly welcomed back. In 1854, Mr. Bull engaged in business in Madison, where he and his wife resided for several years, and formed and she still has many friends. Shortly before the south fired upon Sumpter he went to Missouri, and in due time became a soldier in the Union army, was wounded, and was promoted to the rank of general. Later when order had been restored in the land, he went to Kansas, and became the founder of Bull City,—then a point selected, in a broad prairie. Here the general and Mrs. Bull wrought together, founded a new home, and saw a prosperous town spring up upon their own land. Very soon their single house had near it a postoffice, stores, shops, a church, happy homes, and a railway from the east; and they had a store. He was a member of the Kansas legislature, kept the postoffice, and operated a farm; and they were possessed of that feeling of active energy and live content known to pioneers,—"when all goes right."

But in the midst of this pleasant and prosperous life, there came a day of sorrow. On the 12th of October, 1879, the general was attacked and killed, by an elk which he had kept in his park, and had supposed to be domesticated and harmless. The sad story was published in the papers here, and is well known to many of our readers.

Mrs. Bull buried her husband, and took upon herself the care and burden of his affairs. She was appointed postmistress in the office so made vacant, and held it until she closed her general business, and returned to this city, the present summer, to make another home in the new house above mentioned.

We have before us clippings from papers published in Bull City and neighboring towns, in which kind and respectful mention is made of the general and of his wife. From these we find that the general was invited by his fellow citizens of his own county, and of counties adjoining, to address them on the fourth of July of the notable year 1876, and that he accepted the invitation, and entertained them with an eloquent and appropriate address. Also a card of thanks for favors and constant kindnesses, with a kind "good bye" from Mrs. Bull to her townsmen and the patrons of her postoffice, many of whom, in the earlier days of Bull City, far from old homes and old friends, had come again and again, and said—"Mrs. Bull, haven't you a letter for me this time?"

Also, a citizen's card, in reply, in which a strong frontiersman gives expression to the feeling of satisfaction prevading the community, with her management of the postoffice, and says plainly, that "nobody could have put her out of it if she had not resigned it."

We take pleasure in giving this brief sketch, because the subjects of it deserves to be well spoken of, and because many of our readers will be pleased to know that Mrs. Bull, after so much of life, is cheerful and well, and that she again makes her home here, (alone in one sense) yet among her kindred and her old friends.

Cheerful Conversation

is one of the pleasantest amenities of life. But a fluent talker whose "gems of thought" drop from lips which disclose yellow teeth going to rack and ruin, makes less impression than he or she otherwise would. Bear this in mind, conversationalists, and lend added force to your utterances by keeping your teeth white and pure with ZOZODONT, wholesomest and most thorough of tooth preparations, which removes tartar, renders the gums healthy and purifies the breath.

THE NIGHT WATCHMAN'S SPOTTER

A Machine Which Makes Its Report to the Boss Every Morning.

[Cincinnati Enquirer.]

"This business was bad enough," said the night watchman, "before those infernal spotting-machines were introduced, but now I am thinking seriously of going out to the work-house for a vacation.

"What are you talking about? What is the trouble?"

"Trouble enough. Half the manufactories in the city that employ night watchmen have lately put in a little machine that keeps an eye on the men, and tells the proprietor in the morning exactly how they have spent the night, and in order to keep the machine running the watchman is compelled to spend half his time grinding away at a little crank. We have twelve of them in our place scattered at different points through the building —one in the top story, one in the basement—and I am expected to visit each one and grind away at it at least once every hour. I go on duty at 6 in the evening and off at 6 the next morning, giving me twelve solid hours of watching, which at twelve grinds an hour makes 144 grinding spells in the course of a night."

"Would it be against the rules for me to go with you to the factory and see the instrument?"

"Oh, hang the rules. I am going to get out of the place as soon as I can anyhow. No; come, if you like."

The factory was completely deserted, and during the examination that followed the night watchman and the writer had the place entirely to themselves.

The first point visited was the office.

"You see that clock?" asked the watchman, pointing to a large office-clock, cased in black walnut, which was slowly ticking upon the wall above the safe. "Well, that clock is connected by wires with every room in the building from top to bottom. It contains a registering instrument which keeps tally on a long piece of tape—like a stock-ticker's tape—of every place that the watchman visits in the course of the night. If he hunts out a soft corner and goes to sleep for an hour or two, the paper will tell the boss all about it in the morning. If he rushes about like a wild Indian, upstairs and down, down stairs and up, all night, it will tell the truth about the matter, and the boss will think that he has a good man at work for him. But the fact of the matter is, since this thing was introduced, I pay more attention to making a good record on the tally-sheet than I do for guarding the property."

COME AND SEE US.

HEADQUARTERS REP. STATE CENTRAL COM., MILWAUKEE, June 15, 1884.

The Republican State Central Committee has opened convenient and commodious headquarters on Wisconsin street, near the postoffice, in Milwaukee. All republicans, and especially those of our own state, are cordially invited to call when in the city. All republican papers published in the state, and many of the leading journals of the country, will be kept on file. Come and see us. H. A. TAYLOR, Chm. C. PAYNE, Sec.

The republicans of the "wild west" seem to be a standing terror to the dyspeptic bettor element of New England.

Mr. Tilden has sent Mr. Cleveland no congratulatory telegram. Neither has he made any signs of tapping his barrel.

Mr. Beecher has already repudiated an intervie[illegible] which he is made to say some [illegible]s of Mr. Blaine. We [illegible] re[illegible] shortly, to hear of Mr. [illegible]pudiating his bolt.

O[illegible] the night of the 4th of next November, the democrats will begin to feel as if the wind was blowing six hundred miles an hour. A big storm, of course, but quite refreshing to the Blaine men.

Mrs. Langtry has made $300,000 since she has been on the stage, and like the average women of fashion—stage women w mean—she spent $150,000 in jewelry During the past season the Lily made $82,000.

Every republican will applaud the enterprise of ex-President Hayes in raising poultry. He proposes to supply the republicans of Ohio with able-bodied crowing roosters for the 5th of next November.

There should be a company of riff-raffs formed in Janesville. There are several hundred very respectable business men and honored citizens who are republicans, who would like to join the Blaine riff-raff company.

If the democrats lost Indiana in 1880 by 7,000 when they had seven mules in the canvass, how many mules will it take to carry the state for Cleveland in 1884? This is a question which the democratic committee will not be able to clearly decide in 36 hours.

In 1883 Great Britain had 550 war vessels, France 356, the United States 139 and Germany not quite 100. Great Britain had 4980 naval officers, France 6649 the United States 2033 and Germany 682. The British navy costs $51,800,000 a year, the French $41,000,000, the American $16,100,000 and the German $11,164,000

Very excellent authority says that there will be a democratic Blaine and Logan club in every ward in Rochester, New York, and that within a few weeks the revolt against Cleveland's nomination in Western New York has assumed tremendous proportions. Where Cleveland is best known, there will be the greatest opposition against him.

In the matter of campaign songs the Blaine and Logan composers are away ahead of their opponents. Copyrights on 125 Blaine songs have already been issued, and but sixty for Cleveland and Hendricks. The cause of this difference is that political funeral songs never sell as well as a good, live, cheering song which has the ring of victory about it.

The bolter will yet live to see the time when they will bolt their own bolt. Bolting with the Curtis crowd is chronic, and if they had lived eighteen hundred and fifty-two years ago, they would have bolted the immortal sermon on the Mount, and in the hour when the Son of Man was betrayed they would have been found on the side of Judas.

The queerest product of the season are the democratic Blaine clubs. There are hundreds of them throughout the country, and their name is significant. They are not republicans in the strict sense of the word, but are opposed to Cleveland and enthusiastic for Blaine. They cherish the interests of the United States more than those of any foreign country, and therefore will vote the republican ticket.

The managers of the democratic campaign have their attention called to the fact that Mr. W. J. Gleason, chairman of the democratic city central committee, of Cleveland, Ohio, who recently declared for Blaine, has received a letter from a democrat in Dover, N. J., containing the information that all the Irish employes, and they are all Irish, in the Dover Iron works, the silk mill, Borcho's boiler works, and the Morris iron works had announced themselves for Blaine.

The one hope of the democratic party in this country, is the Irish vote within a radius of 100 miles of the city hall in New York. Now, there is something remarkably strange about that vote. Without it, it is impossible for the democrats to succeed at all, and with it solid, Blaine can still be elected. Every day comes fresh proof that the Irish vote is breaking up under the invigorating influence of the American policy represented by Mr. Blaine and advocated by the republican party. The report comes that in western Connecticut, in the mining region of northern New Jersey, and on Manhattan Island itself, there are abundant proofs, plain to every observer, and nowhere plainer than in democratic papers, that this Irish vote, indispensable to democratic success, is breaking away from the democracy.

Professor Douglass, of the Michigan university, produces amateur cyclones at will. He does it by suspending a large copper plate by silken cords. This plate is charged heavily with electricity, which hangs down like a bag underneath, and is rendered visible by the use of arsenious gas, which gives it a green color. The formation is a miniature cyclone as perfect as any started in the clouds. It is funnel-shaped, and whirls around rapidly. Pass this plate over a table, the cyclone snatches up copper cents, pens, pith balls and other objects and scatters them on all sides.

There is a good deal more than we at first suspected, to the report that Colonel Vilas was to be nominated for governor. The programme now arranged in the heads of the democrats is as good as anything which is premature can be. Vilas is to be nominated, and "if" elected he is to sent to the senate, "if" the legislature be democratic. Bragg is to be returned to congress, and Delaney, who helped to defeat him two years ago, is to be made lieutenant governor, and will become governor provided the programme doesn't miscarry. The experience of the Wisconsin democracy in having slips between the cup and the lip will be repeated this campaign.

It is perplexing to attempt an explanation why the occasion of the ratification of Cleveland by the national democratic committee, should have been surrounded with a funeral-like solemnity. Of course, the committee could not show much cheer and hope on such an occasion, for every time in the past twenty-four years, such a mission has seemed like a "fool's errand." But there was a peculiar sadness about this. It was raining. The thought crowded the mind that Cleveland's nomination was forced, and that he was a sham reformer. Hollow mockery seemed to surround the whole business. Colonel Vilas fell into a mood of sadness when he delivered the address; and the reply of the governor was fully in keeping with the mournful sentiment of the time and place. It is pretty early in the campaign for the democrats to begin to mourn.

The president of the Buffalo Courier printing company has issued a card in which he denies that there has ever been any scandal connected with the private life of Grover Cleveland. There is one or two points in the brief card which the Gazette gives its readers, and are as follows:

The "Rev." Ball was an ardent supporter of Cleveland during the gubernatorial campaign, and was paid for his work. We understand, however, that he was disappointed about some position, hence the "flop" and dirty work unbecoming any man, whether he wears the cloth or not. "Rev." Ball's article has no weight in this place, where he is known. The story as published is false, absolutely so, and will be met in due time. Cleveland will carry Buffalo by 5,000 or 8,000 majority, and New York state by at least 25,000, and in all probability considerable more. He is a man whose social and public life has never been marred to prevent his associating with and having the confidence of the best people in Buffalo.

The democratic and independent papers which were the first to charge Cleveland with a libertine, should hasten to publish Mr. McCune's card. There may be no weight in it, but that matters nothing to them, and Mr. Cleveland should have the benefit of the doubt in the promises.

The strangest story connected with this campaign is that of the Irish votes flocking by the thousands into the republican camp. Such a thing was never before known in this country. In years gone by, an Irishman no sooner landed in Castle Garden, than he became a democrat. The explanation of this was not easy. The Germans are largely republican. The Scandinavians were naturally inclined to take the republican side of politics. The English, until quite recently, usually expressed sympathy for the republican party. But the Irish, as a rule, were born democrats, and that is why New York city has been called the hot bed of democracy, the democratic majority in that city ranging all the way from 40,000 to 80,000.

It is very surprising that an Irishman, or any other foreigner, should be a democrat. It is the last political organization on earth a workingman should have any sympathy for. The Irish have a history. It is something like the history of the American colonies. It is full of sorrow, disappointment and cruelty; and one would naturally suppose that when one of this class comes to the United States to make his home here and seek his fortune, he would identify himself with that party which gives him the greatest protection; which seeks to give him the most prosperous home; which protects his business and and build up his wages; and which is the party of intelligence and progress The Irish have not done that until lately.

There is now a new order of things. The Irish have had their eyes opened. They have discovered, as other foreigners have, that in the republican party is the only political safety. They see that the republican party is the only party that protects their homes by protecting their wages and elevating the American laborer. The democratic party has persistently refused to do this. It has been the unfailing enemy of the workingman by its constant free trade tendencies.

This accounts for the revolution in New York and elsewhere among the Irish voters. They want an aggressive and a progressive party and have concluded to try Blaine and the republican party. It will make New York sure to the republicans.

TO THE BRAVE DEAD.

Dedication of the Dayton, Ohio, Soldiers' Monument.

Great Gathering of People—Thousands of Veterans in Line—Programme of Exercises—Description of the Memorial.

DAYTON, Ohio, Aug. 1.—Fully 20,000 visitors swelled the crowd which celebrated the most important day (Thursday) of the soldiers' reunion. The procession in the morning was an immense affair, and the scarred veterans, with their tattered battle-flags, were cheered at every step of their route.

The order of the day was carried out as follows. Artillery salute at sunrise—thirteen guns. Reveille—bugle and drum corps.

Grand parade at 10 o'clock a. m.; the crowning feature of the occasion. The veterans of the late war, each regimental organization, with its old battle flags, preceded by the attending posts of the Grand Army of the Republic and military companies, and followed by a troop of cavalry. The procession formed during the early morning, and proceeded through the principal streets of the city, the whole asserted to be the grandest and most imposing procession of the survivors of the war since the grand review at Washington, and passed in review before the governor of the state and staff and other distinguished soldiers and statesmen.

Dedication of the soldiers' monument at 2:30 o'clock; master of ceremonies, Hon. Samuel Craighead; transfer of the monument in behalf of the county commissioners, Hon. George W. Houk; acceptance in behalf of citizens and unveiling the monument, Governor George Hoadly.

Governor Hoadly concluded his address as follows:

"To this cause, then—the cause of union, liberty, equality—and to these heroes, living and dead—they who battled and they who fell—and to the victory which they achieved—a victory equally beneficent to the conquered and conqueror; the victory of love, not of hate; of brother, not of executioner; a victory unstained by the shedding of blood after war, and followed by reconciliation, not alienation this monument is dedicated. It is accepted and will be preserved as a memorial and a pledge that the sacrifice shall never be forgotten; that the principles of law and rudiments of government procured at its expense shall be forever maintained, and that if in the future occasion calls, the sons of Montgomery county, of Ohio, and of the Union will be not less prompt to renew the offering and zealous to sustain the cause than they whose death we mourn, and whose glory we celebrate here."

At the close of the governor's remarks he pulled the rope to disengage the veil, but it refused to part from the statue. A steeple-climber named Ward climed up to the top of the monument by the aid of two ropes, and tore the covering away. Gen. Hawley, the orator of the day, was in the midst of his speech at the time, but the loud cheers and cannon's roar interrupted him. It was a long time before order was sufficiently restored for him to continue. Quite a large number of prominent persons were upon the stand, which was just east of the monument. Among them were Senator Sherman, ex-president Hayes and wife, Justice Stanley Matthews, Gen. Rosecrans, Gen. Hawley, Governor Hoadly, wife, and staff, Gen. Patrick, Gen. Gates P. Thurston, and others.

is a highly creditable work of art. It is of gray Maine marble, cylindrical in form, eighty feet high and surmounted by the figure of a private soldier at parade rest. The stones for the die weigh twenty tons each. These are appropriately inscribed as follows, on the south face: "The Memorial of Montgomery County to Her Soldiers;" on the east, "The Republic rests upon the virtue, intelligence and patriotism of its citizens; on the north, "The Federal Union must and shall be preserved," and on the west, "Liberty and Union, now and forever, one and inseparable."

Then followed music—"Peace to Their Ashes, Their Graves Are Our Pride"—select voices and choruses, words composed by Mrs. John Hancock, music by Professor Blumenschein, written and composed for this occasion. Invocation was given by Rev. William Earnshaw, after which a memorial to the Montgomery county soldiers was given by Col. E. N. Parrott.

Music, the "Battle Hymn of the Republic" by a male chorus and band, was next on the programme, and then the oration of the day, by Maj. Gen. Joseph R. Hawley, followed. Gen. Hawley delivered an eloquent oration. He first paid a glowing tribute to the heroic dead who many years ago passed into the presence of a Father of infinite justice and love. The chief purpose of the monument is, however, he said, for the living and those who are to follow, and not for the dead. He next paid a tribute to Ohio and her eminent men, some of whom were present on the stand. He referred at length to the war of the rebellion; the causes which led to it, and the results attained. "The world doubted whether we were capable of prolonging our national life, but by our late war they have learned that we are a loyal people and that a whole nation can be in arms in almost a day. He spoke of questions settled by the war; their wholesome influence upon all, and said that now even the south would not have them changed. He eloquently described scenes during the war, and spoke of the differences between our rebellion and the usual wars of history. Our war was, he said, of incalculable value, for lessons of regularity, fidelity, courage, and absolute obedience to orders; myriads were made better and but few worse, and our faith in humanity was increased. He closed with repeating Lincoln's famous speech at Gettysburg.

At the conclusion of Gen. Hawley's address, ex-President Hayes, Senator Sherman and Gen. Rosecranz were loudly called for, and responded with brief speeches. A perfect ovation was tendered Mrs. Hayes after the speaking, and the vast crowed compelled her to appear at the speakers' stand, amid the wildest applause.

The programme closed with music, "America," chorus, audience and band. The vocal music was under the direction of Professor W. L. Blumenschein.

At night there was a grand and brilliant display of fireworks under the management of a Brooklyn firm. The aim was to make this the most magnificent display of fireworks ever attempted in a western city, consisting largely of special military pieces prepared for the occasion.

THE CATTLE PLAGUE.

Situation in Nebraska—Eradicated at Chicago.

LINCOLN, Neb., Aug. 1.—When Governor Dawes was notified of the existence of Texas fever among cattle he sent his private secretary and a veterinary surgeon to the infected places on the Union Pacific to make an investigation. The disease manifests itself at Brady and Maxwell stations. The disease was first communicated from Texas cattle shipped in last May, and has been pronounced by Dr. Wilcox, of Wyoming, to be the genuine Texas fever. About 100 head have died. Much anxiety was felt among cattlemen until they became aware that the disease was not contagious. The cattle shipped in drop the poison and recover, while natives feeding over the same place contract the disease and die, leaving no poison. Cattlemen and surgeons agree that cattle across the country leave all taint before reaching this latitude; hence the railroads will be asked to refuse shipping Texas cattle into Nebraska territory. The grangers feel better, and are satisfied that the danger is from stock shipped, and that where the stock are driven overland they become acclimatized and free from disease. The governor has no special authority to take any steps in the matter, but is determined to lend the aid of the state in every possible way to stay the disease. He is convinced that there is no special occasion for alarm.

The state veterinarian of Kansas concludes in a full report on the cases in that state that the disease is Texas fever without doubt.

CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—George T. Williams, secretary of the Chicago stock yards, reports that the Texas fever has been entirely eradicated by the butchery of the infected herd, and that no further trouble with cattle is expected.

FARMING IN NEW ENGLAND.

Some Facts Brought Out by an Enterprising Journal.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Aug. 1.—In March, 1883, The New England Homestead, an agricultural journal, printed a simple plan for keeping farm accounts, and offered prizes for the best years' accounts. Ninety contestants began keeping accounts April 1, 1883. Forty-two accounts for the year ended April 1, 1884, were submitted to the committee of award, composed of the secretaries of the boards of agriculture of the New England states, ex-President Stockbridge, of the Massachusetts Agricultural college, and the editor of The Homestead.

The first prize, an $80 mowing machine, was awarded to H. C. Russell, of North Hadley, whose farm paid 19.62 per cent profit on the capital invested, after paying for all labor and other expenses, including wages to the proprietor. Other prizes were awarded. Out of the forty-two accounts returned thirty-six show profits on the capital invested, above all expenses (including labor), of from ½ per cent to over 40 per cent. The average of the thirty-six different farm accounts that show a gain indicates a profit of 10 per cent. on a total capital of $160,000. Six accounts show a loss of from ½ per cent. to 12 per cent; the average of the six accounts is 6 per cent. loss, on a total capital of $22,500. The average for the whole forty-two accounts is a net profit of 8 per cent. on an interest capital of $182,500. The losses in six accounts were ascribed almost wholly to the unprecedented drought of last year, following upon the similar disaster of the previous year. This is the first record ever made or published giving facts and figures of the business of New England farming.

TO WELCOME GREELY HOME.

Sam Randall Will Try To Be There—Review of the Fleet.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Aug. 1.—Secretary Chandler has arrived and is in receipt of a letter from Hon. Samuel J. Randall in which that gentleman says he will try to be in "Portsmouth on Monday Aug. 4. I cannot reach there by Aug. 2. If anything prevents I will telegraph you. I shall have to disengage myself from some appointment already made. It will give me the greatest gratification to welcome the survivors and mourn the loss of the dead of the Greely expedition." Lieut. Greely's mother's will be present and Commander Schley's wife has arrived.

The grand review of the naval squadron at anchor in the harbor took place in the afternoon in the presence of an immense concourse of people who lined the New Hampshire and Maine shores. The river was filled with pleasure-boats.

Soldiers' Reunion at Chicago.

CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—At a meeting of the committee on arrangements, it has been arranged that the contemplated reunion of the soldiers of the northwest would be held at the Driving park, Chicago, Aug. 28 to 29, inclusive. As many as 7,000 ex-soldiers can be accommodated with shelter on the grounds, and meals can be procured from 25 cents upward. Railroad fare for soldiers has been fixed at one cent a mile each way, and to the general public one and one-third fares for the round trip. Soldiers with badges will be admitted to the grounds free with their families. There will be a grand street parade of all ex-soldiers and sailors the first day. A prize of $200 is offered to the best drilled company of the National Guard, and to the second, $75; to the best drilled company of veterans, $200; second, $75; to the best drilled civic society, $150; second, $75; best band, $150; best drum corps, $75. There will be horse-racing, bicycle-riding, and other sports each day of the reunion. The celebration will be concluded by a grand sham battle.

Furious Storm in Baltimore.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 1.—A furious rain and wind storm broke over this city at 5:30 Thursday evening, and for nearly an hour the rain fell in torrents, turning the streets into miniature rivers. Huge trees that had withstood the shocks of many storms, were uprooted, while the limbs and branches of others were twisted off and blockaded the streets. On Johnson street the roof of a house occupied by a colored family was blown in, killing one of the children. In the northwestern section of the city much damage was done to the walls of new houses in course of construction.

POLITICAL NEWS.

The Democratic Standard-Bearers Get Acquainted with Each Other.

Some things That Gen. Gresham Don't Know—A Woman Suffrage Address in Favor of Blaine—Campaign Pointers.

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 1.—The event of Thursday was the meeting of the two candidates. When the carriage containing ex-Governor Hendricks drove to the executive mansion, Governor Cleveland stepped to the porch and grasped Mr. Hendricks warmly by the hand. There was no formal introduction. The two men knew each other at a glance. Governor Cleveland led the way into the west parlor, where Mr. Hendricks was introduced to the ladies of the household. In a short time the party, reinforced by Chairman Daniel Manning, of the state Democratic committee, were in the library discussing the political situation. The conference lasted nearly three hours. Governor Cleveland and his guests dined shortly before 6. At 6:45 a carriage was in readiness to convey the party to the depot. Cleveland and Hendricks took leave of each other in a cordial manner. Just before the train started for Saratoga Mr. Hendricks told the United Press representative that he was perfectly satisfied with the conference, and very well pleased with the courtesy, attainments, and sterling character of the head of the Democratic ticket. There was no crowd at the depot to see Mr. Hendricks off.

The Tribune and the Typos.

CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—The Times' New York special says: A sub-committee of twenty-one from the Central Labor union called at the headquarters of the national Republican committee and held a conference with Chairman Jones and Secretary Fessenden, on the subject of the relations between The Tribune and the Typographical union. At a former conference, last Monday, with several members of the national committee it was agreed by the latter that one of its members should call on Mr. Whitelaw Reid and see what could be done toward bringing about a better understanding between The Tribune and the Typographical union. Mr. S. B. Elkins was the member of the committee who called upon Mr. Reid, and the latter emphatically declared that he would not yield to the union to oblige the national committee, or even James G. Blaine himself. Chairman Jones let the sub-committee of the labor union know this, and thereupon there was a long discussion as to the next step to take. The committee from the Central Labor union then demanded from the Republican national committee a written avowal that they would give no pecuniary assistance to The Tribune during the campaign. Mr. Jones and Mr. Fessenden, speaking for themselves, said they were willing to agree to that, but that they could not speak for the committee. Mr. Jones, however, said that he would get the committee together and lay the proposition before them, and would give the committee's answer not later than Saturday night.

The Woman Suffragists.

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—Elizabeth Cady Stanton and Susan B. Anthony, president and vice president of the National Woman's Suffrage association, have issued an address making some suggestions to co-workers "why they shoud remain steadfastly with the political party that for the last quarter of a century has most faithfully represented the fundamental principles of Republican government." The address says: "At the opening of the next session, with our bills and reports waiting their turn on the calendars of both houses, it is to the Republicans that we must look for a discussion and decision on our questions; and did they constitute a two-thirds majority we should confidentially hope for the passage of the resolution to submit the sixteenth amendment. But we have nothing to expect from any of the other parties now struggling into existence." The address then discusses the position of the other parties with reference to the woman suffrage question, and concludes: "For these reasons, as we have no votes to offer, we should give our earnest, conscientious support to the Republican party, whose chosen leader is one of the ablest statesmen the country can boast, and who, if elected, will, with the noble women of his family circle, honor the White House and the highest office in the gift of the American people."

Calkins Opens His Campaign.

RICHMOND, Ind., Aug. 1.—Maj. Calkins, Republican nominee for governor, opened the campaign at Parker's opera house. The building holds about 2,500, and it was crowded. A procession escorted the mayor and other city officials to the opera house. A glee club of sixty-four voices opened the meeting with a campaign song. Hon. L. D. Stubbs, chairman of the county central committee, presided. He read a dispatch from Col. W. W. Dudley, commissioner of pensions, and Calkins' competitor for the nomination, expressing good wishes and cordial support. Mr. Calkins was introduced amid deafening applause, which continued for several minutes. When quiet was restored the speaker addressed the assembly on the issues of the campaign.

Gresham as an "Interviewee."

CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—Postmaster General Gresham was at the Grand Pacific hotel, but his utterances on politics were extremely guarded. He said he knew positively nothing of politics, and would venture no opinion on Indiana more than to say he thought the Republicans would carry the state.

"Who is going to be Judge Drummond's successor?" asked the reporter.

"I don't know."

"Will you be?"

"I don't know."

"Will the administration support Blaine?"

"I don't kn—I don't think it is necessary for the administration to go around protesting its fealty to Blaine."

Democratic Reception.

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—A reception to the members of the Democratic national and notification committees was given Thursday night by the Manhattan club on Fifth avenue. There were many prominent Democrats present. Among them Charles E. Hooker, of Mississippi; L. G. Kinne, of Iowa; Thomas M. Waller, of Connecticut; George H. Pendleton, of Ohio; Hon. S. S. Cox, of New York, and James P. Barr, of The Pittsburg Post. After a general handshaking, a sumptuous collation was served.

Making a Study of It.

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—The executive committee of the Brooklyn Young Republican club has distributed a pamphlet and circular letter, the former containing a statement of the transac[illegible] of Mr. Blaine with the Little Rock & Sa[illegible] Fe railroad, based on Mr. Blaine's own statements, and so much of his speech of June 5, 1876, as concerns the contents of his letters, then produced. The letter asks readers to communicate their views to the president of the Young Republican club not later than Aug. 19. This action is intended to secure a concensus of opinion as to how much consideration the facts presented are entitled.

Ratifying St. John.

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—The Prohibition party of this city and vicinity met in convention to ratify the nomination of Governor St. John for president. Speeches were made by Chauncey Schafer, and Rev. C. J. North of the Twenty-seventh street Methodist church. The committee on resolutions reported the following:

That it is morally criminal for the state to extend legal sanction and protection by license or otherwise, to the existence of a traffic the only fruits of which are pauperism, crime and increased taxation.

When the question of finance was brought up, a lively discussion took place, and the convention adjourned to meet at a future day.

What the Republicans Claim.

CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—A New York special to The Inter Ocean says: It is stated at the Republican headquarters that from information received it was safe to say that Blaine would get the electoral vote of all the Northern states, of the states of the Pacific coast, and perhaps a few of the southern states. Even Mississippi and Tennessee are considered doubtful and may go Republican. In reply to a question on what ground these southern states were held to be doubtful, the Secretary said: "The tariff question is a factor in this election on which the Democrats have not counted. Many of the manufacturing interests of the south are closely identified with a protective tariff."

Want to Hear Schurz.

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—Many prominent citizens of Brooklyn have addressed a letter to Carl Schurz, inviting him to give a public address, setting forth his reasons for his announced determination to oppose the Republican nominees and to actively support Governor Cleveland for the presidency, and Mr. Schurz will respond in the Academy of Music on Aug. 5.

"CALL ON THE CLEARING HOUSE."

Advice to a Man Who Wants $215,000 from a Broken Bank.

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—Walter S. Johnston, receiver of the Marine bank, has addressed a letter to George F. Baker, president of the First National bank, on the subject of the latter's claim to a preference to the amount of $215,000 for a bogus check drawn by Ferdinand Ward on the First national and deposited in the Marine. Mr. Johnston denies the existence of any claim for preferences, and goes into an elaborate examination of the law and facts in the case, in which he holds the clearing houses responsible for the amount. In conclusion Mr. Johnston suggests what ought to be done as follows:

First—The clearing house should at once proceed to enforce section 13 of its constitution, taking the accounts of the debtor and creditor banks as they stood that morning and correcting yours, and call on the banks with balances against the Marine bank on the exchanges of that day to pay in under the rule $770,063.17, the true debit balance of the Marine bank.

Second—The clearing house then should refund to the Marine bank $555,063.17 illegally taken from its assets after the failure. The remaining $215,000 would be paid to the First National bank. The banks paying the $770,063.17 would become, under the rule creditors for that amount against the Marine bank. This places every one concerned where they would have been if the Marine bank's funds had not been sent up contrary to law, and if the constitution of the clearing house had been carried out. (Signed.)

WALTER S. JOHNSTON,
Receiver of the Marine National Bank.

The president of the First National bank has transmitted a copy of Mr. Johnston's letter to the clearing-house, and to each member thereof, requesting the payment of the sum of $215,000 and interest.

A Mysterious Texas Society.

GALVESTON, Tex., Aug. 1.—Just after the war a well-known society called the "White Camelia" flourished in the south, especially in Texas. At one time it counted over 20,000 members in Texas, drawn from the best people of the state. It is said that the ritual and doings of the "White Camelia" were more solemnly secret in their character than those of any society or body of men in the world. At one time it undoubtedly exercised a powerful secret influence throughout the south, but just what it did to advance the interests of humanity is known only to those who belonged to the order, and, if it did aught to retard human progress, that also is known only to them. No matter what its mission was, it is again coming to the front, whether in its old garb or under a new name is not known. Those who are reorganizing the "White Camelia" or building from its old foundation, are working in profound secrecy and covering their tracks so that it is impossible to learn what the objects of the order are or are likely to be. It is vaguely hinted that the island of Cuba is to be looked after and that Mexican insults to and oppressions of citizens of the United States need a check. One gentleman says that the Key West Cuban revolutionary junta had an active and properly commissioned agent in Galveston who was working up this new society for the purpose of raising men, means, and arms for revolutionary service on that island.

Robbed of Thirteen Thousand.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 1.—A special to The Chronicle-Telegraph from Petrolia, Pa., says: Wednesday afternoon three masked men entered the house of Rhody Boyle, a well known farmer, living near St. Joe, and, with revolvers cocked, compelled him to open his safe and give them $13,000 in cash, after which they took to the woods, and have not yet been captured.

Words are at times a feeble medium of expressing gratitude, and Rev. J. E. Reed found them so. He writes from Los Angelos, California: "Words can't tell how glad I am that I found Athlophoros. I took one bottle according to directions, very near, but before I had used it all, the pain was all gone from my face, and no pain has returned since. It did make a ringing in my head sure enough. The discoverer of this remedy for neuralgia will long be remembered by one I know of, with whom I am closely connected."

Modern·Science and Skepticism

What has Skepticism done for the world?

Nothing but to suggest doubts. It has even suggested that Rheumatism cannot be cured. Skepticism is as bad as Rheumatism.

What has Science done for the world?

A good many things; for instance, it has shown that Rheumatism can be cured.

It has shown that Neuralgia can be got rid of.

Modern science has proved that Rheumatism is a blood disease, and has provided ATHLOPHOROS as the remedy which can completely cure it.

It has proved that although the old doctors failed to overcome Neuralgia, ATHLOPHOROS can reach it, and eradicate it from the system.

It has proved that though these tormenting diseases were so slow and obstinate, they can be overcome in a little while by means of Athlophoros!

Don't be skeptical. If you have any doubts as to what ATHLOPHOROS can do, write to some of those whom it has cured. For instance, Rev. S. R. Dennen, D. D., Pastor Third Congregational Church, of New Haven, Conn., the Rev. W. P. Corbit, pastor George St. M. E. Church, of New Haven, the Rev. J. E. Searles, pastor Willett St. M. E. Church, New York city, Mr. Brummell, the well known candy manufacturer, of New York, Ex-Gov. Bigelow, of Connecticut, and many others, equally well known.

If you cannot get ATHLOPHOROS of your druggist, we will send it express paid, on receipt of regular price—one dollar per bottle. We prefer that you buy it from your druggist, but if he hasn't it, do not be persuaded to try something else, but order at once from us as directed.

TODD'S INDIA PALE ALE.

The proprietor of Todd's Brewery begs to inform the public that he has introduced into his brewery the manufacture of

INDIA PALE ALE

This ale is brewed on the same principle as the celebrated ales of Bass, Allsop and others of Burton-upon-Trent, England.

Its Advantages.

Will keep in any climate, and remain any length of time on draught.

PURITY.

Is brewed entirely from the finest description of malt, and judicious blending of the hops of the Atlantic and Pacific states.

NO OTHER ADMIXTURE enters into the composition of this splendid Ale. In instances where it is requisite that Ale should have the malt and hop principle developed to a maximum possibility and the alcohol property at a minimum, that desideratum is found in this wholesome Ale.

Sample Room in Brewery alley way, east end, Milwaukee St. Bridge.

TO LONDON BY RAIL.

The Great Railway Scheme Proposed by Lieut. Thrie.

An Interview with Its Original Proposer—Along the West Coast of Alaska and Across Behring's Straits.

CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—The scheme of Lieut Thrie, a naval officer, to build a railway through Alaska is not a new one, says The Herald of this city. It was first proposed seven years ago by Maj. W. H. Kent, who was for several years in the service of the Wabash railway.

Maj. Kent's views are given below:

The proposed western terminus of the Canada Pacific was Fort Simpson, in latitude 54:40, and near the southern boundary of Alaska, the latter universally and erroneously believed to be a land of ice and snow and eternal winter. By following up the trend of the coast to Mount St. Elias, 525 miles, and thence across the main body of the territory to Behring's strait, 1,000 miles more, the route would lead through the Aleut and Yukon districts, the best portion of the old Russian territory. Maps, charts, official records, and old Russian histories were secured and carefully studied, and these, with personal evidence and private letters, all proved that the country to be passed through had the climate of Scotland in the summer and of New Jersey in the winter. Alaska possesses forests equaled only by those of central Africa, stores of the precious metals which will surpass those of California in her palmiest days, the greatest fisheries in the world, a magnificent fur country, and rich deposits of coal, copper and other of earth's treasures, besides being adapted for grazing and wheat raising.

Behring's strait has an average width of thirty-six miles, but at its narrowest point is a cluster of small islands, the Diomede group, standing like sentinels at the gateway between the sunny Pacific and the frozen seas of the north. Here the strait is comparatively free from ice the year round, the water is shallow and furnishes good anchorage for vessels, and the widest space between any two points of land between the island and the two continents is only a mile and a half. Kent claims that this strait can be easily traversed the year round by boats, and also that a tunnel is practicable within a reasonable limit of expense. Crossing the strait is one of the least difficult steps in the proposed line.

From Cape East, on the Asiatic side, the coast would be hugged as closely as the conformity of the country would permit in order to obtain the benefit of the milder temperature which here, as in Alaska, is caused by the Kuri Siwo or Japanese current, similar to the Gulf stream, but larger. The southern terminus of the road would be at Vladiovski, an important port on the Russian frontier, near the mouth of the Amoor. This section of the line would be longer than that through Alaska, but a large portion of it would traverse the country declared to have the climate of Italy, thanks to the Japanese current. At the southern terminus a junction would be made with the Russian system of railroads now pushing down the old caravan route toward Irkoutsk, the capital of Siberia. At the point of proposed junction Russia spent $3,000,000 last year in colonizing the province roundabout. When the Russian and American extremities of the line met it would form a continuous line from Boston to London or Liverpool.

Kent claims that there are no climatic or other natural obstacles to interfere with the building and continuous operation of such a road, and that it will certainly be built some time in the future. The necessities of commerce and transcontinental communication may not demand it now, and may not for several years to come, but he regards both the demand and the supply as a mere question of time.

He has corresponded with the Russian government, and received the most flattering encouragement from Gen. Aubril, minister of the interior, and others, being urged to visit St. Petersburg in person. He was assured that if he did not receive the substantial aid desired, he would at least be decorated and otherwise suitably rewarded. In America, he says, his greatest encouragement has been from railroad men of widest experience. S. T. Curgess, chief engineer of the Denver & Rio Grande road, the most difficult piece of railroad engineering ever done in the west, pronounced the plan "the grandest proposed in the present century and entirely practicable." Assistant General Manager Kimball, of the Union Pacific, who is familiar with the northern country, says that "the project is not half as visionary as the building of the Union Pacific, nor a tenth part as chimerical as the Mexican Central, both of which are now realities."

DIED IN HORRIBLE AGONY.

Fate of a Girl Who Took Carbolic Acid.

BOSTON, Aug. 1.—Jenny Bartlett, 19 years of age, living at 4 Indiana place with her sister, committed suicide Thursday morning by swallowing an ounce of carbolic acid. The young woman came to Bangor two years ago and for some time had been out of work. The sisters were very petty and had received attentions from two policemen. Jennie's admirer broke an engagement with her Wednesday evening, and was subsequently seen by her in a saloon. She went home crying, wrote a note to her deceiver, saying that she had done more for him than she would for any other man, and then swallowed the acid. Her screams aroused the neighbors. The death scene was terrible, the victim's writhings being indescribably horrible. The post mortem showed that the stomach was burned to a crisp.

Prizes for Photographers.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 1.—At the Photographers' convention the committee on awards made the following report: For first prize on work, 11x14 and larger, F. W. Guerin, St. Louis, Mo.; for first prize for best collection of cabinets and other sizes below 11x14, J. E. Hale, Seneca Falls, N. Y.; for first prize for best collection of views, J. Landy, Cincinnati.

The following officers were elected: President, James Landy; permanent secretary, Leo Weingartner, both of Cincinnati; G. H. Carlise, Providence, treasurer; Joshua Smith, of Chicago, and W. A. Armstrong, of Milwaukee, members of the executive committee. The convention then adjourned.

A Rascal Raises Money.

ELKTON, Md., Aug. 1.—A man calling himself J. Ryan, pretending to be the agent of a firm of contractors working on some railroad that could be reached by steamer from Chesapeake City, swindled seventy Italian laborers out of $5.50 each. He enlisted the men and gave them spurious passage tickets for their money. Forty of the men came from Newark, Del., being brought down by an agent of the swindler on the train.

The One and Two Dollar Notes.

WASHINGTON CITY, Aug. 1.—The United States treasurer expects by next week to be able to supply small demands for $1.00 and $2.00 notes.

Notice.

The parties who broke into Captain Buchholz's shed at Pope's springs yesterday and removed things from the shed are well known, and unless restitution be made by August 2d, we will prosecute the offenders to the fullest extent of the law. CAPT. ALEX. BUCHHOLZ.

A Startling Discovery.

Mr. Wm. Johnson, of Huron, Dakota writes that his wife had been troubled with acute Bronchitis for many years, and that all remedies tried gave no permanent relief, until he procured a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs, and Colds, which had a magical effect, and produced a permanent cure. It is guaranteed to cure all Diseases of Throat, Lungs, or Bronchial Tubes.

The American artists in Paris are subscribing to a fund with which to procure for the city a bronze model of Bartholdi's statue.

The police of Pittsburg captured four colored burglars, who had six large trunks containing watches, diamonds, sealskins, and silks, valued at $10,000.

A coroner's jury at Toronto has found ample evidence to sustain the charge that Mrs. Christian Leslie starved a number of illegitimate children left in her keeping.

The school census of Chicago, just completed, indicates a population of 629,985, an increase of 12½ per cent. within a year. The Chinese number 257 and the colored people 7,517.

All railways running from Chicago and St. Louis to the Missouri river have issued orders for an advance on freights to Colorado to the basis of 90 cents for first-class, commencing Aug. 1.

Edwin S. Leland, of Ottawa, Ills., sends The Chicago Times a statement that the Republican party was christened in that city thirty years ago, Aug. 1, 1854, some time in advance of the gathering at Strong, Me.

The failures are announced of John Caswell & Co., tea dealers of New York, heretofore rated at $1,000,000; P. M. Hargrave, a banker at Lampasas, Tex., whose liabilities are $40,000, and John Kimpel, a carriage manufacturer in St. Louis.

Peter McGeoch, in his examination before a commission at Milwaukee, testified that he sent $250,000 to Chicago after his failure, and had altogether paid about $900,000 since the collapse of his speculation in lard.

An association formed in Hamburg has purchased 134,000 acres of land in the corner of North Carolina next to Georgia. The agent will compromise with 1,500 squatters, and intends to colonize 2,000 or more Germans on the tract.

The Franco-Chinese War Closed.

LONDON, Aug. 1.—The Times denies the report that a treaty of peace between France and China has been signed. It has information that the payment of indemnity demanded by France has been refused and that preparations for an immediate attack upon Foo Chow are being made. In consequence of this state of affairs, the captain of the English flag-ship stationed in the harbor has ordered sailors to be landed to protect the lives and property of English residents of the city.

The Times also states that an extensive fleet of Chinese merchant ships has been sold to an American firm for 5,250,000 taels ($7,875,000).

Lowell at Malvern College.

MALVERN, Eng., Aug. 1.—Minister Lowell presented the prizes awarded to the graduates at Malvern college, and delivered an address to the students. He spoke of the growth of education in general, and alluded to the desire for learning evinced by the early colonists of Massachusetts, one outcome of which had been the founding of Harvard university. He observed with pleasure the indications that America and England were growing more friendly day by day, and declared it to be his chief ambition to have a part in furthering this growth of cordial relations between the two great English-speaking communities.

A Buffalo Bill Performer Hurt.

HARTFORD, Conn., Aug. 1.—During a performance of the Buffalo Bill combination at Chester Oak park Maj. North (white), captain of the Pawnee Indians, while riding furiously, was thrown violently to the ground by the breaking of his saddle girth. His horse stopped upon him, breaking several ribs and inflicting other injuries likely to prove fatal.

Chronic Diseases.
A Special Study for Years.
Dr. F. B. BREWER
Has made Chronic Diseases of the
Throat, Lungs, Heart, Stomach Liver, Kidneys, Nerves and Blood.

A special treatment for years. He is not a boastful, ignorant pretender, but an educated physician, seeking to do good, by devoting his talent and energies to the treatment of a class of maladies that have been with him a long and patient study. To be able to treat successfully chronic diseases it requires that a physician should be a sound, thorough scholar in the art of science and medicine generally. He should give his entire time to their study, be thorough in his investigations and have a long and varied experience. Dr. Brewer claims to work no wonders or to do any more than any well educated physician can do, who devotes his whole time to the study and treatment of chronic diseases exclusively, and has had his many years' of experience. For years Dr. Brewer has visited the the places he now visits, and has obtained his reputation by being honest in his dealings, candid in opinions and reasonable in his charges. Those who are afflicted are invited to call, investigate and decide for themselves. It will cost nothing to do so. Address all letters to

A MARVELOUS STORY
TOLD IN TWO LETTERS.

FROM THE SON: "[illegible] Cedar St., New York, Oct. 28, 1882.
"Gentlemen: My father resides at Glover, Vt. He has been a great sufferer from Scrofula, and the inclosed letter will tell you what a marvelous effect has had in his case. I think his blood must have contained the humor for at least ten years; but it did not show, except in the form of a scrofulous sore on the wrist, until about five years ago. From a few spots which appeared at that time, it gradually spread so as to cover his entire body. I assure you he was terribly afflicted, and an object of pity, when he began using your medicine. Now, there are few men of his age who enjoy as good health as he has. I could easily name fifty persons who would testify to the facts in his case.
Ayer's Sarsaparilla
Yours truly, W. M. PHILLIPS."

FROM THE FATHER: "It is both a pleasure and a duty for me to state to you the benefit I have derived from the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla.
Six months ago I was completely covered with a terrible humor and scrofulous sores. The humor caused an incessant and intolerable itching, and the skin cracked so as to cause the blood to flow in many places whenever I moved. My sufferings were great, and my life a burden. I commenced the use of the SARSAPARILLA in April last, and have used it regularly since that time. My condition began to improve at once. The sores have all healed, and I feel perfectly well in every respect—being now able to do a good day's work, although 73 years of age. Many inquire what has wrought such a cure in my case, and I tell them, as I have here tried to tell you, AYER'S SARSAPARILLA. Glover, Vt., Oct. 21, 1882. Yours gratefully,
HIRAM PHILLIPS."

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA cures Scrofula and all Scrofulous Complaints, Erysipelas, Eczema, Ringworm, Blotches, Sores, Boils, Tumors, and Eruptions of the Skin. It clears the blood of all impurities, aids digestion, stimulates the action of the bowels, and thus restores vitality and strengthens the whole system.

TUTT'S PILLS
TORPID BOWELS, DISORDERED LIVER, and MALARIA.

From these sources arise three-fourths of the diseases of the human race. These symptoms indicate their existence: Loss of Appetite, Bowels costive, Sick Headache, fullness after eating, aversion to exertion of body or mind, Eructation of food, Irritability of temper, Low spirits, A feeling of having neglected some duty, Dizziness, Fluttering at the Heart, Dots before the eyes, highly colored Urine, CONSTIPATION, and demand the use of a remedy that acts directly on the Liver. As a Liver medicine TUTT'S PILLS have no equal. Their action on the Kidneys and Skin is also prompt; removing all impurities through these three "scavengers of the system," producing appetite, sound digestion, regular stools, a clear skin and a vigorous body. TUTT'S PILLS cause no nausea or griping nor interfere with daily work and are a perfect
ANTIDOTE TO MALARIA.

HE FEELS LIKE A NEW MAN.
"I have had Dyspepsia, with Constipation, two years, and have tried ten different kinds of pills, and TUTT'S are the first that have done me any good. They have cleaned me out nicely. My appetite is splendid, food digests readily, and I now have natural passages. I feel like a new man." W. D. EDWARDS, Palmyra, O.

Badger Cooking Stoves and Ranges,

BURN HARD COAL, SOFT COAL OR WOOD. Have been THOROUGHLY TESTED, and their practibility IS FULLY ENDORSED. Read what is said about them:

Janesville, Wis., Feb. 19, 1884.

Badger Stove Company, Janesville.

Gents: After giving the Badger Range a fair trial, it affords me great pleasure in saying that the test has been in every respect most satisfactory. I find in it all you claim for it, namely: the most perfect cooking arrangement I have had the pleasure of seeing. Its mechanical construction is so perfect, and the ease by which it can be controlled, will enable any one of ordinary intelligence to make its use a complete success. For baking purposes it is first-class. The amount of fuel required for its use is less than any stove I ever saw, that would accomplish as much. Another strong point in its favor, is to be able to keep up a fire, night and day. After holding the fire through night, in the morning we get our breakfast by the same fire, without any addition of coal or delay in kindling. In conclusion, permit me to say that if I could not get another I would not part with my range for twice the amount of the purchase price.

Yours truly, N. DEARBORN.

Janesville, Wis., March 7, 1884.

Badger Stove Company, Janesville.

Gentlemen: Having a desire to procure a cooking stove that would work with the least possible difficulty in burning coal—as I am about to move to Dakota—I took home and tried one of your No. 8 Badger Stoves, and have now run it several days with the greatest success, and this my first experience in using coal for cooking purposes. It is quick in its action with either coal or wood, heating evenly all four griddles, with no lack of heating reservoir speedily. The baking is beyond question second to no fire I have ever seen in a kitchen.

GEO. H. CULVER, Shopiere.

Janesville, Wis., Feb. 13, 1884.

Badger Stove Company, Janesville.

In reply to how I like the Badger Range, would say it fills the bill in every particular. I have used it with coal, wood and cobs. With coal can easily keep a continuous fire, and it is as ready to bake at six o'clock in evening as at any time of building fresh fire. As compared with other ranges used by my neighbors, I consider the Badger KING

HEAVEN.

[Julia Ditts Young in The Current.]

We dream, sometimes, of that dim, far-off land.
Our journey's end, our home, second birth;
We only dream—we cannot understand
That wondrous riddance of the woes of earth.
No failure there, no loss and no decay,
No tempest, but clear shining after rain;
Like mists, life's myriad cares shall fade away,
While all good things we knew on earth remain.

The singer's voice in sweeter strains shall rise;
The poet's verse in nobler numbers flow;
Fair landscapes wait the painter's raptured eyes;
And gazers on the stars at last shall know
The very heart of all their mysteries;
And Nature's faithful lovers shall not end
Their lifelong quest of blossoms, birds, and bees,
But placid hours in peaceful woodcraft spend.

They who on earth were doomed to dwell
In crowded cities' heavy stifling air,
May wander through a cool and ferny dell
Beside fresh waters fringed with flowers rare.
The pale and shrunken victims of disease,
And they who writhed beneath the lash of pain,
Shall healing find in every passing breeze,
And all their pristine bounding strength regain.

The worker's worn and weary hands shall rest,
The bent back straighten in a gracious ease;
The heart cease aching in the mourner's breast;
The baffled student then may grasp the keys
Of soul and sense and many a mighty truth;
And they who faint with age—life's last, worst ill—
Shall quaff the spring of sweet eternal youth,
And face the long, fair future, children still.

Origin of Ammonia.

Ammonia is obtained in large quantities by the putrefaction of the urine of animals.—Encyclopedia Brittannica.

Every housekeeper can test baking powders containing this disgusting drug by placing a can of "Royal" or "Andrews' Pearl" top down on a hot stove until heated, then remove the cover and smell. Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder does not contain Ammonia, Alum, Lime, Potash, Bone Phosphates. Prove it by the above test. It is prepared by a Physician and Chemist with special regard to cleanliness and healthfulness.

"This is to certify that I have examined, analyzed and tested Dr. Price's Special Flavoring Extracts of Vanilla, Orange, Lemon, Celery, etc., and find the same strong, fine, made of good material, and therefore gladly commend them for family use.

PROF. M. DELAFONTAINE, Analytical Chemist, Chicago

Society Girls' Amanuensis.

[Enquirer Interview.]

"Didn't you know that we society girls had to employ an amanuensis as well as you business men? The weather is too warm and our correspondence too voluminous for us to think of writing or answering our own notes, especially since there is a real nice girl—you know her; she was in our set before her father failed—who will come whenever she is wanted to write them for us.

"Some of the girls have her call one morning each week, others once in two weeks and others monthly. I believe she promises to write in a different style for each person, but it is hard to do, as she must have nearly twenty regular customers. She will write a note just as dictated or else dress up her patron's ideas in words of her own. And if it is wished she will furnish even the stationery. She must make a good deal of money, as she charged me $1.50 for a half dozen formal invitations, which she fixed up in less than an hour. I believe she charges pretty high for long letters of a sentimental nature only. I wish I knew all the secrets and gossip that she does."

A Cure of Pneumonia.

Mr. D. H. Barnaby, of Owego, N. Y., says that his daughter was taken with a violent cold which terminated with Pneumonia, and all the best physicians gave the case up and said she could live but a few hours at most. She was in this condition when a friend recommended DR. HALL'S BALSAM FOR THE LUNGS, and advised her to try it. She accepted it as a last resort, and was surprised to find that it produced a marked change for the better, and by persevering a permanent cure was effected.

Warning to Pyramid Climbers.

[Cairo Letter.]

There is just one thing that has not been said about climbing the pyramids, and I have a deep-seated conviction that it is reserved for me to proclaim that one thing. The pyramids are death on breeches. Although I was equipped with a very respectable pair of pants when I began, I found myself almost bereft of them when I reached terra firma again, and had to slide along on the homeward trip. This wrinkle is thrown out gratuitously. I believe no writer has hitherto been practical or philanthropic enough to announce this fact. Get your trousers lined with leather before you start.

Their Summer Jottings.

[Inter Ocean.]

Four bright young ladies, representing Cincinnati, New Orleans, St. Louis, and Chicago, have agreed to write down their various experience at summer resorts this year, and at the close of the season give their diaries to a prominent correspondent.

Griggs Glycerine Salve.

The best on earth, can truly be said of Griggs' Glycerine Salve, which is a sure cure for cuts, bruises, scalds, burns, wounds, and all other sores. Will positively cure piles, tetter, and all skin eruptions. Try this wonder healer. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded Only 25 cents. For sale by Stearns & Baker.

The history of Downs' Elixir is identified with the history of New England for the last fifty years. It cures coughs and colds.

What Actors Should Eat.

Shoemakers and butchers, says a writer in a French dramatic review, can eat what they please. Not so actors, who must vary their food to suit the parts they play.

In the first place, they must not eat artichokes, for artichokes make people sputter in talking.

When a singer orders rabbits at a restaurant he must ask to see the head, to make sure that he is not being imposed upon.

The cat is the tenor's worst enemy.

Singers must also eschew sweets. Bassos and heavy villians generally must eat game, especially the dark meat, and drink heavy wines. Wild boar is good, but not the tame variety.

The man who plays the hero should feed upon raw roast beef, washed down with old port wine.

The ingenues should avoid high seasoning and rich sauces. Chicken and spinach, with milk as a beverage; but let them beware the calf's head.

Of course the young man who takes the lover's part should fly from beefsteak and onions as from a pestilence.

Those who play such diaphanous parts as the commander in "Don Juan" and the elder Mr. Hamlet should not be allowed to dine at all.

Housekeepers throughout the country have been using Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder for a generation, and have ever found it as pure and good as the wheat it raises so splendidly. Housekeepers do not care to experiment when experience has proven that they have found a good article—as Dr. Price's Cream Powder, they will stand by it.

A large proportion of the Baking Powder sold is fearfully adulterated. A strictly pure Baking Powder is made of two articles only, viz: Bi. Carb. Soda and Grape Cream Tartar. No other ingredients can be found in DeLand's Chemical Baking Powder.

Is Your Blood Pure?

For impure blood the best medicine known, SCOVILL'S SARSAPARILLA OR BLOOD AND LIVER SYRUP, may be implicitly relied on when everything else fails. Take it in the spring time especially for the impure secretions of the blood incident to that season of the year; and take it at all times, for Cancer Scrofula, Liver Complaints, Weakness, Boils, Tumors, Swellings, Skin Diseases, Malaria, and the thousand ills that come from impure blood! To ensure a cheerful disposition take SCOVILL'S BLOOD AND LIVER SYRUP which will restore the mind to its natural equilibrium.

The Latest Poison Scare.

["Caspar's" New York Letter.]

This time it is the water obtained from bored wells that is made the cause of a poison scare. Some health-board doctors have been analyzing it, and they report that it is highly deleterious—in fact dangerous. Most of the water they have examined has been used in the manufacture of mineral water, and since their report was made there has been a rapid spread of belief that it is much safer to shun mineral water than to drink it—to the marked detriment of the trade in that beverage. Though some of the water is brought from a depth of 200 feet, the doctors say it is none the safer for that. No matter how far below the surface it may be, the drainage gets down to it, contaminates it and makes it unfit for the much persecuted human stomach.

It is the most wonderful thing in the world that everybody living in Gotham, or even visiting in it, did not die by poisoning long ago. At one time or another the health board doctors have told us that the wine, whisky and beer we drank are poisoned, our tea and coffee are poisoned; a great deal of the meat we eat is poisoned; even the air we breathe, in our rooms or out of them, is rank with poison; every way we turn there is poison, poison, poison right before us. And yet, somehow, we don't die a bit faster than other people. Even the health board itself has to admit that the death rate is steadily declining. New York is better off now, in a sanitary sense, than it has been for years. As for that poisonous water scare, it probably won't amount to much, and I think there is very little cause for it anyway.

The Echo.

How like the echo is the human system. If we speak kindly the echo answers likewise. If we care for our system we have good health. If we ignore nature's laws we incur ill health. For all troubles of the stomach, liver, blood or kidneys, use Dr. Jones' Red Clover Tonic. It speedily cures dyspepsia, costiveness, bad breath, piles, pimples, ague and malaria diseases, poor appetite, low spirits, headache, and makes general health excellent. Can be taken by the most delicate. Price 50 cents, of Stearns & Baker.

A Western View.

[Philadelphia Call.]

Railroad Superintendent—You appear to have been a little hurt in this collision, my friend.

Maimed Passenger—I have lost both arms and one leg.

"Indeed! What is your regular business?"

"I am at present out of work."

"Ah! Well, with three limbs gone, you can easily excite sympathy and make lots of money at begging, but we won't charge you anything extra."

Hahnemann's Cholera Cure.

[Chicago Times.]

A remedy for the cholera, which it is said was the result of many experiments made by Dr. Hahnemann, the founder of homeopathy, consists of veratrum album, in five-minute doses of eight or ten globules each, in water. No water or other drink is to be allowed. Vomiting is to be checked by frequent solutions of three to five drops of spirits of camphor, and arsenicum metallicum album is to be used in like quantities should the body become cold.

Hay Fever.

From Col. J. Maidhof, of New York: I have suffered severely for the last ten years from Hay Fever in early and midsummer and in the fall. I desire in the interest of my fellow sufferers to testify in favor of Ely's Cream Balm. My short use of it demonstrated its efficacy. J. Maidhof, 401 Broadway.

I can recommend Ely's Cream Balm to relieve all persons suffering from Rose cold and Hay Fever. I have been a great sufferer from these complaints and have used it. I have recommended it to many of my friends for Catarrh, and in all cases where they have used the Balm freely they have been cured. T. KINNEY, Dry Goods Merchant, Ithaca, N. Y.

Spurgeon's Jokes.

[London Truth.]

I remember a grave pastor remonstrating with the mighty Baptist. "I wonder now," said the dull old fellow, "how you, as an influential minister, can reconcile it to your conscience to make so many jokes in the pulpit?" "You wouldn't though," said Spurgeon, "if you knew how many I kept to myself."

Paris' Bad Matches.

[American Queen.]

Matches are fearfully dear in Paris, and horribly bad. They only ignite the feelings against them. A savant has calculated that it takes two matches to light the gas, three to light a candle, four a cigarette, eighteen a government cigarette, twenty-two a cigar, thirty-two a pipe, and 200 to light the fire in a stove.

Don't Spill the Milk.

"There is no use crying over spilled milk," says the old saw. If you are not only bald, but have no life in the roots of your hair, there is no use crying over that, either. Take both time and yourself by the forelock while there is a forelock left. Apply Parker's Hair Balsam to your hair before matters get worse. It will arrest the falling off of your hair and restore its original color, gloss and softness. It is a perfect dressing withal, clean, richly perfumed, cools and heals the scalp.

"The Countess."

[New York Cor. Utica Observer.]

The city is dull. Business is dead. So are all the winter forms of amusement. Only one drama and one comic opera are being performed this week in legitimate theatres. Years ago the season did not close until the Fourth of July. Now there is no profit after May. But the managers, though afraid of the counter attractions of a presidential campaign, are full of booming and burlesque will be dominant. However, there is one theatrical proprietor who believes there will be room for at least a new Shakespearean actress. He is in negotiation with three foreigners. All are either Russian or Polish. He intends to close a bargain with one of them—which, is as yet indefinite. But he will introduce her as a countess, whichever she may be, and her biography is in type.

"How can you do that?" I asked.

"Easy enough," he replied. "We've stereotyped and printed the pages in which she is merely mentioned as the 'Countess,' and have held back those in which her whole name with the few and only facts can be inserted."

Cheerful Conversation

is one of the pleasantest amenities of life. But a fluent talker whose "gems of thought" drop from lips which disclose yellow teeth going to rack and ruin, makes less impression than he or she otherwise would. Bear this in mind, conversationalists, and lend added force to your utterances by keeping your teeth white and pure with ZOZODONT, wholesomest and most thorough of tooth preparations, which removes tartar, renders the gums healthy and purifies the breath.

Great Possibilities.

[Arkansaw Traveler.]

"Is it correct to say have went?" was asked of a young man. "I don't know," he replied. "Why, I thought that you graduated from a university?" "So I did, but you see we never had anything to do with the English language. I hear that it admits of great possibilities."

FIRST WARD RESIDENTS

They Express Their Objections to Surrendering Their Rights to the Railroad Companies.

And Request that the New Depot be Located at a Less Objectional Point.

Synopsis of the Speeches and the Resolutions Adopted.

A Committee Appointed to Lay the Matter Before the Common Council.

The public meeting of the citizens of the first ward, in the common council chamber last evening, called for the purpose of discussing the proposed improvements now in progress in this city by the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railway company, was very well attended, Mr. John W. Sale called the meeting to order, briefly stating the objects for calling the people of the ward together, and moved that Mr. F. S. Lawrence be elected chairman, which motion prevailed. Mr. E. W. Lowell was then chosen as secretary.

In answer to the inquiry of the chairman, "Gentlemen, what is the pleasure of the meeting?" Hon. John Winans took the floor and stated the opposition of himself and a large number of the residents of the first ward to the erection of the new depot of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad company. Mr. Winans went over the entire ground, and said in substance that at the suggestion of numerous residents of the first ward who had suffered long and grievously, he had been instrumental in calling this meeting. The Chicago, Milwaukee and St Paul railway company was about to erect a new freight depot on Race street, between Academy and High streets, which would cause more switching in that locality, and if allowed to proceed without the people of the first ward expressing their opposition, it would be virtually surrendering to the railway company the use of the streets west of Jackson street. The Northwestern company had switch yards south of the depots with a network of tracks, and persons residing on the Galena road and in the northwestern portion of the city, were obliged to drive north to cross the tracks. It was hazardous to the lives of the people who resided in the first ward; and if the people were going to sit idly by and allow the company to build the proposed depot where they intended building it, they might as well move out of the ward. If this depot was allowed at this point, the streets (Jackson and Academy) would be used for the storage of freight cars and a switch yard. The people suffered a great inconvenience and delay by cars being left standing on the tracks. The property owners could not afford to sit by without taking some action. The railroad company should not expect the people to surrender the streets to its use The company has plenty of land without the necessity of encroaching upon the public streets, and said it was the duty of the common council to invoke all their power in behalf of the people against this outrage. He had, at the suggestion of other residents of the first ward, prepared some resolutions, which he read as follows:

WHEREAS, The railroad companies for a long time past have made unreasonable uses of Jackson, High, Academy, Bluff and Pleasant streets as freight and switch yards, thereby obstructing said streets and rendering their use by the public extremely dangerous, and

WHEREAS, Our citizens have time and again protested to said companies and to the common council of the city against such unnecessary and unreasonable use of said streets, by petitions numerously signed, which protests have been disregarded by said companies and said council, and

WHEREAS, The Milwaukee & St. Paul company are about to erect a new freight house between High and Academy streets the erection and use of which will greatly add to the wrongs and danger heretofore and now complained of, and will perpetuate the same; Therefore

Resolved, That with no unfriendly feeling toward said companies, and conceding to them the right to a reasonable use of said streets in common with the public; we do most earnestly protest against their continued and further use as switch and freight yards, and request the St. Paul company to locate its new freight house at some other and less objectionable point than the one now proposed.

Resolved, That the common council of said city be and is hereby requested to intercede for our relief, and if necessary, to exercise all the power vested in it by the charter and laws to protect us from the wrongs and damages complained of.

Resolved, That in the opinion of this meeting said common council has the right to prohibit the use of said public streets for freight and switch yards; that it has the right to prohibit their incumbrance with standing cars, engines, lumber, machinery, and other material; that it has the right to require flagmen and gates to be placed at each of said street crossings; that it has the right to regulate and limit the speed of all moving trains in said city; that it may require said companies to plank said street crossings to their full width; that it has the right to restrain said companies from propelling their cars by steam power within said city or any part thereof; and that it may pass ordinances to enforce any of said rights, and impose penalties for violation; and it is the sense of this meeting that each and every of said powers should be invoked by said council until the relief demanded shall be given.

Resolved, That in the opinion of this meeting the existing ordinance in relation to the obstruction of said streets by said companies with its standing cars, should be limited to not exceeding five minutes, and said ordinance rigidly enforced by said city.

Resolved, That a committee of ten be appointed by the chairman of this meeting, whose duty it shall be to present these resolutions to said common council and urge upon it immediate action in the premises, and that said committee be authorized to call such public meetings from time to time hereafter as it shall deem proper.

Mr. Winans then moved that the resolutions be adopted as the sense of the meeting:

Mr. Sale stated that he would like something more effective. It seemed to him that the inevitable result of placing the building where it is would be making the first ward, west of Jackson street a switch yard, which was unjust and should not be submitted to without a struggle. He had heard that there was no switching to be done there, but that was all well enough to talk while building a depot. He seconded the motion for the adoption of the resolutions.

Mr. Winans stated that the object he had in drawing the resolutions was to place them before the council, whose duty he thought it was to protect the citizens from what he considered a nuisance. The council could do it more effectually than an individual. This was not a groundless complaint, as everybody must concede. South of the depots the city had virtually abandoned the streets to the use of the companies, but the people could not surrender everything to the railroads. He was not an enemy to the companies, but wanted them to do business here, and if the council would not take any action in the matter the courts would be resorted to for justice.

Mr. A. A. Jackson, attorney for the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul company, stated that he did not wish to influence the company for or against the resolutions offered by Mr. Winans, and that he did not wish to justify any wrongs of the railroad company. He thought he understood the affairs of the company as well as any person in the ward not connected with the company. This was not a new subject to him. He had labored with the residents of the ward, and with the officials of the company to cause the removal of any existing nuisances. He thought Mr. Winans was mistaken about the amount of switching done upon the streets. The rules of the company were very stringent regarding the blockading of the streets, and the conductors of trains were held personally responsible for any violation of orders in this respect, and it was the duty of the agent to report all such violations. A great many trains were passing over the streets every day, and if the company moved their yards to Monterey or on the bluff on the east side of the river, there would be complaints from some one. The trains cannot get out of town without crossing some of the streets. The tracks were there when Mr. Winans moved into the ward, and there was not as much switching done over the principal streets as in former years, and there would be still less when the new depot was built. He had no objections to the resolutions being offered.

Mr. Winans having alluded to a conversation he had with Superintendent Collins, Mr. T. T. Croft, agent of the St. Paul company in Janesville, presented the following letter expressing Mr. Collins' views:

MILWAUKEE, July, 30, 1884.

T. T. Croft, Esq., Agent C. M. & St. Paul R. R.:

DEAR SIR:—I have noted what the Janesville newspapers say in the call for a public meeting to take action in the matter of the new freight depot. I would advise that you attend the meeting and to explain to the people who may assemble on that occasion, that our train switching is done west of our present passenger depot; the location of the new freight depot was made with direct reference to relieving the east end of the Janesville yard from much of the switching that has been done there. It is not the intention of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railway company to do switching over streets that are constantly being used for driving purposes, as you well know by the orders sent you from time to time from this office. The improvements we are going to make in Janesville will be of great advantage to our patrons, and will be of a permanent character, adding to the facilities of shippers at your station, and we cannot understand how any resident of your city should oppose the contemplated improvements when they are made with a view of lessening the switching across Jackson and other streets. I trust when this matter is fully explained to your people that they will feel satisfied that our aim is not to antagonize but to please the public.

Yours truly,

S. J. COLLINS, Supt.

The discussion continued at some length by Messrs. John Winans, J. W. Sale, A. A. Jackson, T. T. Croft, S. Trulson, A. M. Valentine, Wm. Street and H. F. Bliss.

Mr. Trulson stated that he had resided in the ward a number of years, and that frequently he had been delayed at the crossings by the cars blockading the streets. He had been compelled to climb over platform cars in order to get to his place of business, and had often waited fifteen minutes for the cars to be moved off the streets

Mr. Valentine was dealing with railroads, and would take a superintendent's word as soon as he would any man's in the city. He believed the company would work for the interest of the public, provided it did not clash with their own interest.

Mr. Street had frequently timed trains standing on the streets for half an hour.

H. F. Bliss said that he was not in the employ of the railroad and in no way obligated to them; that he had been a liberal patron of both roads for a good many years, and while he was in favor of the city demanding the enforcement of rigid rules as regards flagmen and gates at the principal street crossings, yet he thought the resolutions proposed were more radical than the occasion demanded. He believed that the statement made by the company's agent, Mr. Croft in regard to the new depot having a tendency to lessen the switching on the principal streets, to be correct. He had been a resident of the first ward for some time, and during the past fifteen years had not lost half an hour altogether waiting for trains at the Jackson street crossing.

The resolutions were then adopted and the chair appointed as the committee to present the matter to the common council, Messrs. John Winans, J. W. Sale, W. F. Carle, S. Trulson, J. W. Nash, J. A. Denniston, D. Conger, E. D. Tallman, A. M. Valentine and N. O. Clark.

The meeting then adjourned.

Mrs. H. C. Bull.

A new house, fronting south, and with a home look, has been erected on Ravine street, in the First ward; it is in the shade of graceful elms, and so near to the home of Mr. E. G. Fifield, that the location will be readily recognized. It has been built for, and is already occupied by Mrs. H. C. Bull, widow of Gen. H. C. Bull, late of Bull City, Kansas. Mrs. Bull is well and favorably known to many of our older residents; she is a sister of the Messrs Fifield, and resided here before and after her marriage, and is now kindly welcomed back. In 1854, Mr. Bull engaged in business in Madison, where he and his wife resided for several years, and formed and she still has many friends. Shortly before the south fired upon Sumpter he went to Missouri, and in due time became a soldier in the Union army, was wounded, and was promoted to the rank of general. Later when order had been restored in the land, he went to Kansas, and became the founder of Bull City,—then a point selected, in a broad prairie. Here the general and Mrs. Bull wrought together, founded a new home, and saw a prosperous town spring up upon their own land. Very soon their single house had near it a postoffice, stores, shops, a church, happy homes, and a railway from the east; and they had a store. He was a member of the Kansas legislature, kept the postoffice, and operated a farm; and they were possessed of that feeling of active energy and live content known to pioneers,—"when all goes right."

But in the midst of this pleasant and prosperous life, there came a day of sorrow. On the 12th of October, 1879, the general was attacked and killed, by an elk which he had kept in his park, and had supposed to be domesticated and harmless. The sad story was published in the papers here, and is well known to many of our readers.

Mrs. Bull buried her husband, and took upon herself the care and burden of his affairs. She was appointed postmistress in the office so made vacant, and held it until she closed her general business, and returned to this city, the present summer, to make another home in the new house above mentioned.

We have before us clippings from papers published in Bull City and neighboring towns, in which kind and respectful mention is made of the general and of his wife. From these we find that the general was invited by his fellow citizens of his own county, and of counties adjoining, to address them on the fourth of July of the notable year 1876, and that he accepted the invitation, and entertained them with an eloquent and appropriate address. Also a card of thanks for favors and constant kindnesses, with a kind "good bye" from Mrs. Bull to her townsmen and the patrons of her postoffice, many of whom, in the earlier days of Bull City, far from old homes and old friends, had come again and again, and said—"Mrs. Bull, haven't you a letter for me this time?"

Also, a citizen's card, in reply, in which a strong frontierman gives expression to the feeling of satisfaction prevading the community, with her management of the postoffice, and says plainly, that "nobody could have put her out of it if she had not resigned it."

We take pleasure in giving this brief sketch, because the subjects of it deserves to be well spoken of, and because many of our readers will be pleased to know that Mrs. Bull, after so much of life, is cheerful and well, and that she again makes her home here, (alone in one sense) yet among her kindred and her old friends.

Cheerful Conversation

is one of the pleasantest amenities of life. But a fluent talker whose "gems of thought" drop from lips which disclose yellow teeth going to rack and ruin, makes less impression than he or she otherwise would. Bear this in mind, conversationalists, and lend added force to your utterances by keeping your teeth white and pure with ZOZODONT, wholesomest and most thorough of tooth preparations, which removes tartar, renders the gums healthy and purifies the breath.

THE NIGHT WATCHMAN'S SPOTTER

A Machine Which Makes Its Report to the Boss Every Morning.

[Cincinnati Enquirer.]

"This business was bad enough," said the night watchman, "before those infernal spotting-machines were introduced, but now I am thinking seriously of going out to the work-house for a vacation.

"What are you talking about? What is the trouble?"

"Trouble enough. Half the manufactories in the city that employ night watchmen have lately put in a little machine that keeps an eye on the men, and tells the proprietor in the morning exactly how they have spent the night, and in order to keep the machine running the watchman is compelled to spend half his time grinding away at a little crank. We have twelve of them in our place scattered at different points through the building —one in the top story, one in the basement—and I am expected to visit each one and grind away at it at least once every hour. I go on duty at 6 in the evening and off at 6 the next morning, giving me twelve solid hours of watching, which at twelve grinds an hour makes 144 grinding spells in the course of a night."

"Would it be against the rules for me to go with you to the factory and see the instrument?"

"Oh, hang the rules. I am going to get out of the place as soon as I can anyhow. No; come, if you like."

The factory was completely deserted, and during the examination that followed the night watchman and the writer had the place entirely to themselves.

The first point visited was the office.

"You see that clock?" asked the watchman, pointing to a large office-clock, cased in black walnut, which was slowly ticking upon the wall above the safe. "Well, that clock is connected by wires with every room in the building from top to bottom. It contains a registering instrument which keeps tally on a long piece of paper—like a stock-ticker's tape —of every place that the watchman visits in the course of the night. If he hunts out a soft corner and goes to sleep for an hour or two, the paper will tell the boss all about it in the morning. If he rushes about like a wild Indian, upstairs and down, down stairs and up, all night, it will tell the truth about the matter, and the boss will think that he has a good man at work for him. But the fact of the matter is, since this thing was introduced, I pay more attention to making a good record on the tally-sheet than I do for guarding the property."
